$12,000 RAISED FOR COLLEGE TO HONOR STEPHENS

Southern Patriot's Centennial Birthday Is Appropriately Celebrated.

TOM WATSON AND JUDGE LUMPKIN START DONATIONS

Large Crowd at Crawfordville for the Occasion—Grand Niece and Old Servant of Stephens Hold Reception for Visitors—Barbecue a Prominent Feature.

Crawfordville, Ga., July 4.—(Special.) A college to honor the memory of Alexander Hamilton Stephens, vice president of the confederacy, statesman and philanthropist, was assured here today at the centennial anniversary of his birth when, at the conclusion of the exercises, $12,000 was subscribed at once and indirect subscriptions amounting to much more were received.

Judge Joseph Henry Lumpkin, of the supreme court of Georgia, and orator of the occasion, started the contributions with $1,000, and was quickly followed by Thomas E. Watson, with a like amount. Judge Horace M. Holden at once spoke for the citizens of Tallaferro county, Stephens' birthplace and home, who guaranteed $10,000 as their share toward the great work.

Miss Mary Gay, of Augusta, a well-known writer, offered the copyright of her recent work, "Life in Dixie," which is having a large sale. T. E. Massengale, of Warren county, stated that he would introduce a bill in the legislature to require Stephens' "History of the United States" in the schools of Georgia. Thomas J. Shackelford, of Athens, suggesting that this authentic work be sold and the proceeds applied to the college. Thomas E. Watson, who is widely known as a historian, offered to revise the work and make it standard for the present use of schools.

Services at Liberty Hall.

The memorial services were held in Liberty Hall, the splendid old home of the Stephens family, the place about which some of the sweetest pages of history were written. There is a monument standing majectically within the shadow of the old mansion. It supports a life-size bronze statue of Stephens.

"Here sleep the remains of one who dared to tell the people that they were wrong when he believed so, and who never intentionally deceived a friend or betrayed even an enemy," is one of the inscriptions which pilgrims to the home read on the polished granite.

The celebration did not occur on Stephens' birthday. The centennial was on February 11, 1912, but the Daughters of the Confederacy of Georgia decided that Independence day would be the most appropriate time.

The visitors began arriving at the historic old home early. Some walked, others came in old dilapidated buggies, and other came in autos. The trains brought hundreds from Atlanta, Augusta, Macon, and other distant places, and by noon the town was crowded.

Address by Judge Lumpkin.

The principal address was delivered by Judge Joseph Henry Lumpkin. He reviewed the life of Stephens, the patriot, eulogized his history, and pleaded with all loyal Georgians and the people of the entire south to keep green his memory. He read an inscription from the monument, and said that he wished the words could be carved into the hearts of every man and woman of the nation. It was:

"I am afraid of nothing on earth or above earth or under the earth, except to do wrong. The path of duty I shall ever endeavor to travel, fearing no evil and dreading no consequences."

The other speakers were W. H. Fleming, of Augusta; Judge Hill, of Atlanta, and T. K. Oglesby, of Augusta.

The "Hall," or the Stephens' mansion, as well as the streets of the town, was draped in flags and bunting. A brass band was in attendance and played airs that stirred the patriotism of the crowd. A committee of ladies from the Daughters of the Confederacy delighted in showing the visitors places of interest in the famous old mansion and grounds.

Little Miss Frances Holden, the great niece of Mr. Stephens, was host at Liberty Hall. With old Aunt Eliza, the faithful old mammy, who has been with the Stephens family thirty years, she received the guests. Throughout the

FELDER TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR

Will Make Formal Announcement This Afternoon.

After an All-Day Conference Close Friend of the Attorney General Says Money Has Been Supplied and Race Will Be Made.

Macon, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—Thomas S. Felder, attorney general of the state of Georgia, has decided to enter the race for governor, and Friday morning he will give out a statement announcing his intention and outlining the platform on which he will base his campaign.

Throughout the whole of today Mr. Felder was closeted with his local supporters, going over the details of the campaign and reading reports of the outlook in various parts of the state. It was decided that Mr. Felder should speak in every county in the state between now and election day, and if he carries out his program he will be kept pretty busy, there being only fifty-four more days before the primary.

After the conference today Mr. Felder was asked by a reporter if he would be a candidate. He said that he would have nothing to say until in the morning. Later a close friend of Mr. Felder was seen and he said that it had been decided that Mr. Felder would run; that enough money had been raised to defray the expenses of a state-wide campaign, and that Mr. Felder's statement Friday morning would be his announcement for the office.

BRYAN GIVES WILSON PLURALITY OF 2,000,000

Chicago, July 2.—W. J. Bryan, who stopped in Chicago today on his way to Nebraska, declared if a third party were formed Colonel Roosevelt might drive some reactionary democrats over to President Taft, but with the democratic ticket and platform he could not expect any progressive democrats to be attracted to Roosevelt.

Before leaving Baltimore Mr. Bryan estimated that Wilson would have a plurality of 2,000,000 votes. When asked today if he still held to that estimate he replied:

"In estimating Wilson's plurality at 2,000,000 I was not counting on a third party. That might reduce the plurality some and yet not much because many republicans will vote for Roosevelt who would not be willing to vote for a democrat and that will largely reduce Taft's vote. Taft will be the contender for the Roosevelt votes, not Wilson.

"In our platform," said Mr. Bryan, "the single term for the presidency will attract much attention and also the declaration favoring direct primaries. One of the best planks is that declaring for popular election of national committeemen, the committeemen to begin coming into service when elected. This change will prevent hold-over committeemen from organizing conventions."

Asked what he thought of Col. Henry Watterson's prediction that Col. Roosevelt's party would succeed, Mr. Bryan said:

"Mr. Watterson's predictions have not all come true; but if such a misfortune as he predicts should overtake us I hope that the Lord will give us strength to bear it with more cheerfulness than 'Marse' Henry shows."

Mr. Bryan said that while he thought that either Governor Burke of North Dakota or Senator Chamberlain of Oregon would have brought the democrats more votes than Marshall, the Indiana governor was a powerful man on the stump and had an excellent record.

GOV. WOODROW WILSON WRITES TO TAMMANY

New York, July 4.—At the Tammany Hall Independence Day exercises a letter was read from Governor Woodrow Wilson acknowledging the receipt of an invitation to be present. The governor wrote:

"I greatly regret that engagements elsewhere bind me on that date." He continued: "I think it must be a matter of congratulation on the part of all lovers of America that the society of Tammany should, through so many years, have maintained its celebration of the anniversary which is crowded with so many memories of the inspiring kind, not only for the people of the United States, but for the people of the world. It is upon hearts of this kind that the flame of liberty is kept burning."

Governors Judson Harmon, of Ohio, and Simeon E. Baldwin, of Connecticut, also sent letters of regret.

STANSELL TOOK JUMP FROM HOTEL WINDOW

Chicago, July 4.—C. W. Stansell, said to be a lumber dealer from Alabama, fell or jumped from a window of his room on the third floor of a downtown hotel today, and was seriously injured. His fall was checked when he struck a glass canopy at the first floor. He was unconscious when picked up. Attaches of the hotel insisted that Stansell's fall was accidental.

$3,000 IN COAT, JETER MISSING; FEAR FOUL PLAY

After Two Weeks Private Search, Relatives Appeal for Help of the Public.

ALABAMIAN WAS LAST SEEN AT WARM SPRINGS

Mysterious Disappearance Unsolved by Police of Two States—Reward Is Offered for Information Regarding Whereabouts of the Missing Man—Relatives in Atlanta.

The sons of J. M. Jeter, cashier of the Citizens Bank of Geneva, Ala., and one of the substantial men of the state, accompanied the police last night in a zealous search of morgues and hospitals for trace of their father who is missing now for nearly three weeks.

Failing utterly, as they have failed in running down every clue which seemed to point to his whereabouts, an appeal was made to The Constitution and its readers for aid in locating the missing man, a liberal reward being promised for any information which will relieve the suffering of the distracted family.

The search commenced at Warm Springs, near Jackson, Ga., where the banker went three weeks ago for a rest, and from where he disappeared soon after. From there the family went to Macon and other points, and now to Atlanta, sending out by wire descriptions of their father, asking the air of police and detectives, but Mr. Jeter has been traced no farther than the front porch of the hotel which he left June 17.

When he left the hotel on his way to the depot for a short business trip to Macon and Atlanta, he stepped into an unknown world, seemingly, where friends and agonized relatives are unable to follow, for at that point knowledge of him ceases.

Foul Play Is Feared.

Foul play is gravely feared by his family and by the police. It is in fact the only theory on which they are working, for it was known that he carried a large sum of money on his person, and no reason is known why he should voluntarily drop from the ken of his people. Affairs at the bank where for more than thirty years he has been cashier are in excellent shape. His home life has been in keeping with the importance of his trust in a business way, and he has had no other trouble that is known.

If a crime has been committed, it is hoped by his family that it may not have resulted in his death but that he may be in some hospital, his mind possibly beclouded from blows and injuries. But the search goes on through every morgue where an unidentified body may have been carried, and the suspense of uncertainty grows daily as the chance of finding him lessens.

Mr. Jeter left his home in Alabama about June 15 for Warm Springs, Ga., to spend several weeks. He carried on his person about $3,000.

Two days after arriving at the hotel, on June 17, he planned a business trip to Macon and to Atlanta, and said he would leave that night for the former place, but would return soon. He retained his room at the hotel and left his baggage there.

Walked to Station.

After supper on the night of the seventeenth, as it was rapidly growing dark, he set out for the depot which lies a mile or more from the hotel, through a dark stretch of woods with no habitations in calling distance all the way. He went alone and chose to walk the entire distance.

From that time on he has been missing. No one has seen him, so far as known, since he left the hotel piazza. No word has been received from him in any way, no trace has been found of where he went, or of his end, if he be dead.

At the time when searching would have been most valuable, when actual traces of his depature might still have been found, no alarm was excited by his disappearance, as he expected to be away some days, and those now looking for him are seriously handicapped by the nearly three weeks which have elapsed since he left the hotel.

It is recalled now that practically all the servants had left the hotel before Mr. Jeter, including the bell boys.

"We have done everything we can with no result," said F. L. Jeter, his son, of Pensacola, Fla., last night when he came to The Constitution office accompanied by his father's nephew, F. Jeter, of Atlanta.

"Our only hope, therefore, is through your paper, and we will liberally reward anyone who can help us. Any information can be sent to the Citizens Bank, Geneva, Ala., by mail or telegraph and we will bear all expense, of course."

The description given of the missing man is that he is 60 years old, with black hair which is only slightly streaked with gray. He has dark eyes and wears glasses when reading. Standing five feet, six inches high, he weighs 160 pounds, is clean shaven, and carries himself well.

Kerens Sells Paper Stock.

St. Louis, July 4.—Richard C. Kerens, ambassador to Austria-Hungary, has sold his holdings in the German-American Press Association, which publishes The St. Louis Times, to Edward L. Pretorious and others, according to Mr. Pretorious, who said Mr. Kerens' stock was valued approximately at $500,000. Diplomatic duties keep Mr. Kerens from St. Louis so that he could not conveniently look after his interests, it was stated.

AIRSHIP AKRON AND MELVIN VANIMAN, ITS BUILDER, WHO LOST HIS LIFE WHEN THE BIG GAS BAG EXPLODED

The Akron, the $250,000 dirigible balloon in which Melvin Vaniman had planned to make a trip across the Atlantic, is a mass of wreckage in the sea. Vaniman's body and the bodies of Walter Guest, George Brilliant and Fred Almas are under it. Vaniman's brother Calvin was also killed. His body has been recovered. The balloon part of the Akron was 258 feet long, 47 feet in diameter, held 400,000 cubic feet of hydrogen gas so securely that the leakage was less than 1 per cent in twenty-four hours, and had a gross lifting capacity of thirteen tons. The cigar-shaped body was the ship. The long deck beneath housed the machinery for directing the gas bag. The lowest deck or lifeboat housed the crew in case the balloon refused to be directed. The two decks weighed about six tons. The three motors mounted on the gasoline keel had a combined drive of 280 horse power on the six 11-feet propellers. Thirty miles an hour in still air was what Vaniman counted on. Two of the propellers were "orientors"—they could be whirled at any angle and could raise or lower the ship as well as drive her ahead. The main raising and lowering device consisted of the three plane rudder and single plane fins under the stern, altogether looking like an aeroplane jammed into the balloon.

BEATEN IN BATTLE MEXICAN REBELS TAKE TO HEELS

Orozco's Army, Defeated at Bachimba, Is Now a Disorganized Mob.

CHIHUAHUA IS DESERTED; REBELS HEAD FOR JUAREZ

Orozco Admits Rout of His Army and Blames the United States—He Will Make Desperate Effort to Hold Juarez and Secure Munitions From the United States.

Chihuahua, July 4.—The rebels who had occupied Chihuahua for nearly five months as their capital and base, evacuated tonight in the face of a rapidly-moving column of cavalry, the vanguard of General Huerta's army which drove the rebels from Bachimba, 40 miles south of here, today.

Determined to save the city, if possible, from looting and rioting, General Orozco declared he had sent his troops in various directions from Mapula, avoiding a return to Chihuahua. He added that the troop trains which had been sent through Chihuahua without stopping would be halted at Sauz and Montezuma, 190 and 114 miles south of Juarez.

All Saloons Closed.

General Orozco ordered all saloons here closed. It may be three days before the federals can repair the bridges and enter the city. Meantime General Orozco will have a garrison kept here to preserve order.

Juarez will be the rebel capital hereafter. Rebel Governor Felipe Guitterez and members of the revolutionary legislature left for there today in a special train.

It is now confirmed that Juarez and Casas Grandes soon will receive the bulk of the rebel troops, and that a determined stand will be made to hold Juarez.

General Orozco is tonight at Sauz, 30 miles north of here, while the main columns of rebels are encamped at Montezuma, only 114 miles from the American border. All day long the rebels retreated. Chihuahua, with its nervous colony of foreigners, was left untouched by the rebels. Troop trains were sent through at full speed by General Orozco to prevent looting and disorder.

Rebels Destroy Bridges.

Preparations were made tonight by the rebels to isolate Chihuahua. All bridges were destroyed south of here during the day. The work of tearing up the Mexican Central railroad was detailed to dynamite crews, which left here with the last of the rebel forces. This dispatch evidently will be the last message sent before the rebels cut Chihuahua off from telegraphic communication.

All rebel officials left on the last train. The foreigners remain in their houses, raising flags of all nations.

The rebels will try to mobilize opposite El Paso, a strategic entrance to the state of Sonora. General Orozco today admitted that lack of ammunition and superior federal artillery made it futile to attempt to hold Bachimba. He has distributed his forces in several directions, but the mobilization point will be close to the American border, if there is one. Rebel officers say it will be guerrilla warfare from now on.

There is no question about the apparent disorganization of the rebels, but it is probable the invasion of Sonora will mean a serious problem for the government, as the region is mountainous and impassible to artillery and troop trains.

ONLY DEAD AND DYING REBELS FOUND BY MADERO'S TROOPS

At General Huerta's Headquarters, Bachima, July 4.—When the federal artillery had fired a few shots at daybreak today and received no response from the hills north of Bachimba, flying squadrons of cavalry were sent forth by General Huerta to locate the enemy, but the bird had flown. Only the dead and a few wounded were lying in the positions which the rebels had held in the mountain pass here.

A badly torn railroad north of the canyon indicated that as heretofore the rebels had withdrawn, destroying the railroad behind them as they proceeded.

Losses in the first day's fighting apparently were great, as today the battlefield was strewn with the dead and wounded on both sides. The rebels had clung tenaciously to their positions, but the combined assaults of infantry and cavalry, supported by the deadly fire of the artillery, had forced them to yield strategic hills and ranges overlooking the canyon. ON NOVEL LINES COLONEL PLANS HIS CAMPAIGN

Roosevelt Proposes to Make His Appeal Largely to the Farmer and Wage Earner.

DECLARES THE "BOSSES" RULE BOTH OLD PARTIES

The Colonel Says He Is Amazed at the Encouragement He Has Received Since Democrats Nominated Gov. Wilson—Roosevelt Says Campaign Will Be Hard Fought.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 4.—A campaign along novel lines was sketched in bare outline tonight by Colonel Roosevelt. As the candidate of the new progressive party for the presidency, Colonel Roosevelt intends to make an appeal largely to the farmer and wage-worker on the ground that neither the democratic nor the republican party is attempting seriously in this campaign to deal with the fundamental and social conditions which confront the country.

Colonel Roosevelt said Senator Joseph M. Dixon, of Montana, who managed his campaign for the republican presidential nomination, in all probability will be his campaign manager in his fight at the head of the new party. The senator's headquarters probably will be in New York, where he has spent most of the time since the Chicago convention. This program has been agreed upon as definitely as possible in advance of the national convention in Chicago next month.

Away From Conventional Lines.

"I expect that Senator Dixon will be in charge of the campaign," said Colonel Roosevelt tonight. "He wants to stay in the fight just as he has

42 PERSONS DEAD AND 60 INJURED

As Result of Collision of Trains Near Corning, N. Y.

While Crowded Lackawanna Passenger Train Was Standing at Station It Was Plowed Into From Behind by a Fast Express.

Corning, N. Y., July 4.—Westbound Lackawanna passenger train, No. 9, from New York, composed of two engines, a baggage car, three Pullmans and two day coaches in the order named, was demolished at Gibson, three miles east of Corning, at 5:25 o'clock this morning by express train No. 11.

Forty-two persons were killed and between fifty and sixty injured. Many of the victims were holiday excursionists bound to Niagara Falls.

The atmosphere was heavy with fog, and to this Engineer Schroeder, of the express, attributes the wreck. He said he failed to see signals set against his train, whipped around a curve at 65 miles an hour, and crashed into the stationary No. 9, held up by a crippled freight engine. The train had not been stopped long enough for a flagman to get back to protect the rear. The wreck was the worst in the history of the Lackawanna.

Of the forty-two bodies recovered but twenty-four have been identified. They were:

PARTY CHIEFS PAY RESPECTS TO GOV. WILSON

Thirty-Five Members of Democratic National Committee at "Little White House."

MANAGER OF CAMPAIGN HAS NOT BEEN SELECTED

Committeemen Will Meet Gov. Wilson and Gov. Marshall in Chicago July 15 to Name Campaign Manager--"Pleas" Stovall One of the Visitors at the "Little White House."

Seagirt, N. J., July 4.—Thirty-five members of the democratic national committee called on Woodrow Wilson at Seagirt today. They came from Baltimore on a special train and on the way they talked of the selection of a seasoned manager for chairman to run the governor's campaign. When they left Sea Girt two hours later, after friendly chats with the nominee, most of them declared that any one whom the governor might name would be elected to the place.

Who Will Be Chairman.

As to who this will be, whether William F. McCombs, Fred B. Lynch, Robert S. Hudspeth or any one of half a dozen others mentioned for the place will have the preference, Governor Wilson had not decided tonight. The governor will meet the committee July 15 in Chicago, stopping off en route probably at Indianapolis to take Governor Marshall, his running mate, with him.

There was much diversity of opinion on the way up from Baltimore among the delegates as to who should be elected chairman. Mr. Lynch, who managed the campaign of the late Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, and "Humpty" McElveen, third baseman of the Atlanta baseball club, was severely beaten by John G. Dobbs, manager of the Montgomery club, in an altercation that occurred in front of the Aragon hotel at an early hour last night.

Members of the Atlanta club declared that "Kid" Elberfeld, Outfielder Bills and Pitcher Aichison, who were with the Montgomery mogul at the time, also took a part in the affair. This was denied by Dobbs, who said:

"This fellow has been telling a lot of stories in different places which reflected upon my personal character, and when I asked him about it tonight he could not give a satisfactory answer.

federal troops carried out orders with mathematical precision.

Conspicuous in Fighting.

Conspicuous in the fighting besides General Huerta, as the commander-in-chief, were his lieutenants, General Rabago and Tellez, as well as Raoul Madero, brother of President Madero.

The federal advance northward began today, the city of Chihuahua being the objective. Daylight confirmed the federal victory, and enthusiasm in the government ranks rose to great heights. Eagerness to pursue the rebels gave Huerta's forces a stimulus that was apparent on the march.

The federal officials are not perturbed over the reports that the rebels will attempt to send columns south to co-operate with General Argumedo in the vicinity of Torreon. General Trucy Aubert has already come north to Torreon with reinforcements for General Blanquet, and from Sinaloa and Pacific coast states federal forces also are moving rapidly to help check the invasion of the state of Sonora.

BEATEN BY THE FEDERALS REBEL FORCES ARE FLEEING

At General Orozco's Headquarters, Mapula, Mexico, July 4.—Under cover of darkness the entire rebel army withdrew from Bachimba, a distance of 25 miles north of Mapula, which is but 15 miles below the city of Chihuahua. The rebels admit their defeat, attributing it to a lack of ammunition. The whole army early today was in retreat and will continue toward the American border, abandoning the city of Chihuahua to the federals.

General Orozco gave the order to retreat after his troops had been subjected to the heaviest fire they have yet experienced.

General Orozco will go to Juarez, opposite El Paso, Texas, on the Mexican Central, perhaps turning back then southwest along the Mexican Northwestern railroad to Casas Grandes, which is now the rebel rallying place.

From Casas Grandes, which is in a mountain country, where the federal artillery cannot be brought into action advantageously, the rebels will invade the rich state of Sonora.

The retreat followed a council of war long after midnight. It was the unanimous opinion of the rebel chiefs that a further waste of ammunition was foolhardy if the revolution was to be continued. It was decided to follow a new plan altogether. Flying columns will be sent north, west and south. The strongest will move to the south to co-operate with General Argumedo and Colonel Murillo, last reported at Nazas, in the southern part of the state of Durango, pursued by the federal forces under General Blanquet.

As for General Huerta, the federal commander, the rebels now call him the "king of Chihuahua," for they think he will rule in the city of Chihuahua and nowhere else. It is the rebel intention to cut the railroad in every direction around the city as soon as the federals enter, which, however, will be delayed several days because several bridges for a distance of 40 miles will have been destroyed between Bachimba and Chihuahua by nightfall today.

The insurrectos believe they can make life miserable for the federal army in Chihuahua by cutting communication on all sides of the town. When the last train left Bachimba today the work of destroying bridges had begun. Rebel officers claim losses in yesterday's fight were slight.

The rebels are not exactly prepared to split into guerrilla bands. They will still maintain an organization in large columns, but their efforts for some time will be concentrated toward getting ammunition. It is believed that with the entire army nearer the American border ammunition will come faster than heretofore. The rigid patrol of the American troops is blamed for their lack of ammunition and feeling against the United States for its strict embargo on the passage of arms into the rebel zone has by no means improved.

CHIHUAHUA STREETS MINED TO DESTROY THE FEDERALS

El Paso, July 4.—Information was received tonight that hundreds of dynamite mines are buried in streets and houses in Chihuahua in preparation for the entry of the federals. They have been laid where they will explode on the slightest contact.

Americans and foreigners who know of the explosives intended to remain within their houses until the arrival of General Huerta, who has been apprised by spies of the spots where the mines are said to be concealed.

The defeat of the rebels at Bachimba and their movement toward the American border today created a stir in army circles here.

The American border patrol was spread along the international line prepared for emergencies. The general opinion is that there will be no international complications at Juarez. It is believed that the rebels will establish a temporary capital there, but soon will move on to Casas Grandes and Sonora.

TEXAS TO SHELL THE MEXICANS IF THEY FIRE ACROSS BORDER

Dallas, Texas, July 4.—With everything ready for a twenty-four hours' notice, the Dallas battery of the Texas national guard is prepared to start for the Mexican border. Such notice is expected. Captain F. A. Logan, commanding officer of battery A, field artillery, has just returned from El Paso. He states he believes Governor Colquitt is ready to have a battery on the El Paso side to shell the Mexicans, should they fire across the border. The mayor of El Paso, he says, has a force of 500 men prepared to invade Juarez if the Mexican bullets cross the Rio Grande into United States territory.

GLORIOUS FOURTH KEENLY ENJOYED

Sane and Safe Celebration Proves Popular.

All Atlanta Stops Work and Spends Day in Rest and Recreation—Large Crowds at Parks, Ball Games and Down Town.

Atlanta yesterday enjoyed to the utmost her first midsummer holiday, if the noise and enthusiasm and street crowds of the Glorious Fourth is a reliable gauge.

Stores and offices Thursday poured out their thousands of workers long before noon, the government offices were closed all day, elevators stopped running except the one or two used at night in each building, and papa, mama and all the kids were off to the parks and the soda water stands.

Out at the fort was the only official observance of any kind, when the new national flag, bearing forty-eight stars for the first time by the addition of New Mexico and Arizona as states, was raised to the breeze before the "present arms" of the Seventeenth infantry, the national salute by the artillery and the inspiring strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" from the regimental band.

The ceremonies were simple and dignified, but calculated to cause an involuntary cheer and a tight clutching of the hands as the beautiful flag rippled out in the sun and the vigorous music aroused the spark of patriotism incipient in every American heart.

Many Ball Games.

In the afternoon there were ball games galore. The usual game was played at Ponce de Leon with record attendance, and at the fort there were company games and at the public grounds throughout the city the amateurs showed their love of America by playing the national game. The children and girls were not left out, however, and there were lots of jolly parties underneath the trees in Grant park and Piedmont park, with picnic suppers in the evening.

At Piedmont in the morning Captain Schlomberg, of the United States life saving corps, had arranged aquatic contests among those who are local members of the corps. Little Miss Jennie Perkerson, 10 years old, proved the best swimmer and won a pretty bathing suit for leading all the way in the 25-yard race, which she finished in just forty seconds.

T. Walthour came out the winner in two minutes flat in the 100 yard contest, with E. Sims second. A lieutenancy in the life saving corps is Walthour's reward. J. H. Littlefield won the same title and also a silver cup in the mile race, finishing in 47 minutes with A. C. Cowles second. In the boys' big event, the 25-yard race, Gilbert Fraser won out, the prize being a bathing suit with U. S. V. L. C. on it. The judges were H. V. Murphy and M. Kaplan.

Large Crowds Down Town.

On the streets was the usual holiday throng, composed mostly of couples seeking the matinees, the motion picture shows and the ice cream parlors. It was a good natured crowd, dressed in Sunday best, and the presence of mounted policemen at short intervals apparently was a superfluous precaution.

Superfluous except for the kids, who despite the vigilance of the blue coats would pop fire crackers and put torpedoes on the car tracks. The noise started somewhere about daylight, according to the most sleepy recollections, and continued without abatement. The officers kept down the bulk of the noise, however, and what little managed to get by did no harm.

Organizations of various kinds met to celebrate the day. The Daughters of the American Revolution held exercises at their chapter house near the Driving club, with the reading of the Declaration of Independence by Dr. W. W. Memminger as the feature of the occasion. The Germans picnicked at Germania park, and the Socialists at McDonough road and Sawtelle avenue. Patriotic exercises were held by the Jewish Educational Alliance last night at Alliance Hall.

Safe and Sane Fourth.

The police and the hospital authorities awoke bright and early yesterday morning to prepare for a day of catastrophes, accidents and disaster-a-plenty. At the hospitals ambulances were kept in readiness throughout the day, but not a single call was answered to bring in a maimed or crippled child.

Not since hospitals have been in vogue has Atlanta spent such an ideal Fourth from an ambulance surgeon's standpoint. It seemed as though Providence stood guard over those who celebrated the occasion with pyrotechnics, and if even a tiny finger were burned or a young face were seared, none of the hospitals became acquainted with the fact.

The discharge of fireworks was confined chiefly to private property, and but very little was exploded on the streets. A few mischievous youths, however, kept Five Points very much alive with tiny firecrackers and torpedoes throughout the day. No arrests were made for discharging fireworks, and police authorities last night expressed their satisfaction over how well the situation was handled.

Fewer barber shops are designated as tonsorial parlors, but in other respects the world is about as elegant as ever.

Piano Facts for the Public

Why We Do Not Pay Commission On Piano Sales

WE have been asked so frequently for an explanation of our refusal to pay commission on piano sales, when all other houses in Atlanta pay such commission, that we cheerfully take the entire public into our confidence, explaining in detail the reasons why we adopted this policy. These reasons will be equally conclusive to piano buyers that they cannot afford to buy a piano except from an absolutely one-price, no commission house.

Because We Have But One Price

We carry our one-price selling plan the full length of agreeing to forfeit $100.00 for every piano sale accepted by the management at any price lower or higher than this one plainly marked price. If we paid a commission to some one claiming to control the sale it would, by agreement between the parties, amount to the same thing as reducing the price.

Because Our Price Is Too Low

We guarantee to sell any instrument we handle at the lowest price to be had anywhere in America for the same make and style of an instrument. We cannot live up to this low price policy if we give 5 per cent, 10 per cent or more as a commission to some one claiming to control the sale.

Because It Is Not Honorable

We know that if we pay commission we must add the amount of this commission to the cost of the instrument before figuring our profit. That means that we are a party to allowing some friend unknown to the buyer to get a secret commission at the expense of the buyer. We will not be a party to such a transaction.

Because It Is Unjust to Music Teachers

The great majority of music teachers would not solicit and would not accept a commission from any piano house on the sale of an instrument to one of their clients; why should we join with the less scrupulous minority in a conspiracy to overcharge the buyer? The commission system puts all music teachers in a false light.

Because It Is Unjust to the Public

The right and honorable way to do business is to make a price on what one has to sell, and get the business or not get it at this price. Then every one knows exactly how much should be paid. As we guarantee to sell at the lowest price to be had anywhere in America for the same make and style, and guarantee to give every buyer this lowest price, we cannot pay unnecessary and improper commissions. The commission must be paid by the buyer and no one has any right to inflict this unnecessary expense upon him.

Because It Is Unjust to Competitors

We take the view that every house in the piano business is entitled to know exactly where we stand on every question. We have therefore declared in unmistakable terms that we do not pay commissions to any one, not even salesmen, every salesman working for this house being employed on salary and salary alone. In the same way we have declared our position on the one-price policy, and to vary from the position we have taken for the benefit of some favored customer would be unjust to other piano houses, as well as other customers.

Because We Want YOUR Business

If we sell you a piano, we expect to sell the instrument to you, and for that reason want to give you the full benefit of our lowest price. We are not selling the piano to some friend of the family, and, therefore, see no reason why this friend, who simply happens to know that you are going to buy a piano, should get $40.00 or $50.00 out of it at your expense! If you take the same view of it, you will deal with this one-price, no-commission house.

PAY RESPECTS TO GOV. WILSON

Judge Wade, of Iowa, frequently were mentioned.

Not long after the arrival of the delegates, Mr. McCombs, who was reported to be ill in Baltimore, appeared on the governor's lawn. He had come on a later train. The governor spied him and left the group with which he was talking to shake hands with his campaign manager and thank him. They strolled across the lawn with hands clasped and held a low conversation. Before the governor could return to his other friends he announced that Ollie James would visit him tomorrow or Saturday to arrange the date and detail for his formal notice of nomination.

To Meet in Chicago July 15.

Calling Mr. Mack aside Governor Wilson held a long talk with him, punctuated by Mr. Mack's vigorous gestures and his own nods of assent. A little later Mr. Mack, after conferring with other committeemen, said to Roger Sullivan, of Illinois:

"We have just about decided to meet for organization in New York on July 15."

"Make it Chicago," suggested Mr. Sullivan.

"Come out to French Lick for the meeting," insisted Thomas Taggart, "and let it be at my expense."

"Chicago," repeated Mr. Sullivan.

"Better see, hadn't we, what he has to say about it," Mr. Taggart suggested, indicating Governor Wilson with a gesture.

They acted on this advice, but no one save themselves heard the governor's smiling reply. A new canvass of the committee was made and Mr. Mack announced from the governor's porch that Chicago had been selected.

There was a great deal of surmise as to Governor Wilson's choice for chairman. Mr. Hudspeth, who managed the eastern end of the campaign in 1904 and 1908 and a close friend of Governor Wilson, was mentioned frequently.

Hudspeth Favors McCombs.

"Personally, I am in favor of McCombs," Mr. Hudspeth said. "He has managed the governor's campaign brilliantly so far and I see no reason why he should not continue to do so. It is a mistake to swap horses in midstream."

A. Mitchell Palmer, a close friend of the governor, who has been spoken of as chairman, also said Mr. McCombs is his preference. Mr. McCombs himself had little tosay.

"If the governor feels that I can do any good in this respect," he declared, "I will put aside personal inclinations, however great the sacrifice."

Norman E. Mack, the retiring chairman, said that under no circumstances would he entertain a thought of reelection. "Governor Wilson's choice will prevail," he added.

"Woodrow Wilson is now the real leader of the democratic party," he continued. "There is not a shadow of doubt that he will remain the leader during the next four years, whether he is elected or not. He has been the leader ever since W. J. Bryan surrendered to him the leadership in Baltimore."

Tillman Greets Mrs. Wilson.

The delegation reached Seagirt at 2:43 o'clock and was taken by automobiles to Governor Wilson's cottage. Mr. Mack was among the first to reach the governor's porch.

"How do you do, governor? I am delighted to see you," shouted Mr. Mack, grasping the nominee's hand.

"And I you, sir," replied the governor. They remained talking as Senator Tillman, Willard Saulsbury and John I. Martin approached. Senator Tillman, as he took Mrs. Wilson's hand, said:

"I am sure you will be the next lady of the white house. I only desire to live long enough to see your husband inaugurated."

Of all the assurances of support which were voiced through the committeemen and all the confident predictions of election made, none pleased the governor more than one from Edwin O. Wood, of Michigan.

"I have in my pocket," he told the governor, "a telegram signed by six of the most prominent republicans of Detroit, saying they will vote for you."

Chicago for Headquarters.

Chicago was favored as the headquarters of the democratic campaign by the advisers with whom Governor Wilson conferred tonight.

Those with whom the governor talked were Joseph E. Davis, of Wisconsin; Josephus Daniels, of North Carolina; Edward F. Goltra, of Missouri; Robert S. Hudspeth, of Jersey City; Mayor Brown, of Lincoln, Neb., and William McCombs, the governor's ante-convention campaign manager. Mr. McCombs was closeted for half an hour with the governor.

The committeemen had little to say of their exchange of views with the nominee.

Osborn Pleases Wilson.

Governor Wilson was highly gratified at the stand taken by Governor Osborn, of Michigan, with regard to Colonel Roosevelt and himself.

"This is very interesting, indeed," Governor Wilson said after reading Governor Osborn's statement today. "I just don't know what to say about it except that is most significant.

"Governor Osborn is a man of force; he knows his own mind. What he says pleases me greatly, particularly what he says about me."

Governor Wilson said that he had not been given time as yet by his callers thoroughly to digest the party platform and hence he intended to reserve all comment thereon for his speech of acceptance.

This, with plans for his formal notification of nomination, was scheduled for discussion this afternoon with the national committee. The governor said he was taking "theoretical holiday" to day. He had given his stenographer the day off and expected to send no letters or telegrams.

Bryan's Brother on Scene.

Representative Burleson, of Texas, who had long supporter the governor, was one of the first callers today. He spent half an hour with the nominee. Another visitor was Charles W. Bryan, a brother of William J. Bryan. He was closeted with the governor for more than an hour. Mr. Bryan declined to make public the topics of discussion and said his call was largely social.

"I convey to Mrs. Wilson," he said, "heartiest congratulations and best wishes from Colonel Bryan's wife."

Mr. Bryan said that his brother would doubtless be found on the stump for Governor Wilson throughout the campaign. A group of enthusiastic Texans brought Governor Wilson, as a trophy, the "Lone Star" flag which floated over their delegation at the convention.

The governor's forenoon callers included B. G. Moore, of Philadelphia, president of the Sons of Delaware, and Victor Levin, also of Philadelphia.

Editor Stovall Sees Wilson.

Pleasant A. Stovall, of Savannah, Ga., who knew Governor Wilson when he was short-stop on the "Globe Dixie" baseball team at Augusta, also greeted the governor. Mr. Stovall entertained the governor and his friends with stories of the governor's boyhood days in Georgia.

John D. McNeill, private secretary to Governor O'Neal of Alabama, called to offer the services of his chief during the campaign, as did Major D. Woodward, of Boston, who was in charge of Governor Foss' campaign at Baltimore. Major Woodward suggested that Governor Foss would be willing to invade Vermont in Governor Wilson's interest.

"We believe," he said, "that if Governors Wilson and Foss speak in Vermont we will carry the state at the November election."

Wilson Talks to Soldiers.

Governor Wilson presented the governor's prize for marksmanship this afternoon to Charles F. Sylvester, of the second regiment, N. G. N. J. He had a score of 138 out of a possible 150. Captain Sylvester was escorted from the rifle range near here to the governor's cottage by his company. In presenting the trophy, Governor Wilson said:

"War is not pleasant to contemplate, but it is well to be prepared for it at all times. The straighter you shoot, the sooner the war is over. The more men you kill right away at the beginning, the fewer you will have to kill in the long run. Marksmanship is a very important part of the training for preparation for war."

Sane Fourth in Chicago.

Chicago, July 4.—The city authorities, the various park commissioners and the Sane Fourth Association today superintended 41 entertainments in parks and playgrounds. In many of the programs a band concert figured and all of them were designed to lure the small boys from the forbidden cannon cracker or dynamite torpedo. Rigid regulations governing the use of fireworks the authorities believe will lessen the danger to life and property.

Badly Hurt in Prize Fight.

Peoria, Ill., July 4.—Philip Harrison, a Chicago lightweight, fought nearly nine rounds with Harry Donohue, of Pekin, Ill., here today and is in a hospital tonight in a critical condition. He is said to have received a heavy blow behind the ear shortly after opening of the eighth round. It was discovered that he had broken an artery.

Seven Persons Injured.

Pittsburg, July 4.—Seven persons were probably fatally injured tonight when a car on the Pittsburg, Harmony, Butler and Newcastle street car line ran into another car which was taking on passengers at Keown station. All were hurried to a hospital in this city.

HIGH FALL IN NIGHTMARE PROVES FATAL TO SHERAM

As the result of a fall sustained a month ago, when he walked out of a second story window in a nightmare, Edward M. Sheram, 76 years old, died last night at the home of his son-in-law, B. E. Morefield, 320 Washington street.

After his long fall he was found on the ground by members of his family. He sustained a broken collar bone and painful bruises and cuts. Owing to his advanced age, the shock of such as injury and the circumstances under which it took place, it proved very serious for him, and since that time he has been kept in bed, gradually weakening until his death.

Mr. Sheram moved to Atlanta in 1901, from Columbus, where he was for years a highly respected citizen. He was a confederate veteran and served throughout the war with distinction.

Surviving him are his wife, and seven children, Mrs. Morefield, Mrs. R. E. Grigg, Miss Alice Sheram and F. A. Sheram, of Atlanta; Mrs. Miles G. Patterson, of Montgomery, Ala.; George Sheram, of Columbus, and Frank Sheram, of Shawnee, Okla.

The body was last night removed to Greenberg & Bond's chapel until funeral arrangements are completed.

NELLIE GRANT SARTORIS BRIDE OF FRANK H. JONES

Coburg, Ont., July 4.—Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris, widow of Algernon Sartoris, of Warsash Hants, England, and only daughter of the late General U. S. Grant, was married today to Frank H. Jones, formerly first assistant postmaster general of the United States, at her country home here. The bride was given away by her son, Captain Sartoris. The wedding, because of the death recently of the brother of the bride, Major General Frederick D. Grant, was attended only by near relations of the bride and groom.

MRS. SALLIE F. WARE DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Mrs. Sallie Faver Ware, aged 73 years, died suddenly last night at her residence, 91 Luckie street. She was widely connected throughout the city and was well-known, having lived here for many years.

She is survived by one son, George Ware, a real estate man, and several brothers and sisters, Dr. Paul Faver, Glenn Faver, Mrs. C. H. Eastin and Mrs. Joseph C. Greenfield, and a niece, Miss Ethel Eastin, all of Atlanta.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the residence, and at 5 o'clock the body will be taken to Fayetteville for interment.

Teacher—Now, Willie, where did you get that chewing gum? I want the truth.

Willie—You don't want the truth, teacher, and I'd rather not tell a lie.

Teacher—How dare you say I don't want the truth! Tell me at once where you got that chewing gum.

Willie—Under your desk.

THREE PERSONS KILLED AND 17 ARE INJURED

Tulsa, Okla., July 4.—Three persons were killed and seventeen more or less seriously injured tonight when an interurban car crashed into a "dead" gasoline car a quarter ofa mile east of Sand Springs park. The car was bringing 300 picnickers from the Fourth of July celebration to this city.

Failure of the airbrakes and inability to see the gasoline car on the track caused the wreck.

The dead:
CARTER BAXTER, Tulsa.
MISS MARY KUBLY, Tulsa.
AN UNKNOWN BOY SCOUT.

Among the body injured is Mrs. W. A. Snow, of Ault, Colo.

"Going to get out here and stretch your legs?" asked the traveling man of his companion as the train stopped.

"What place is it?" inquired the other.

MANY ENTERED AT BIG SCHOOL MEET

Champions of Georgia Schools Contest for Honors at Athens.

Athens, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—A new sort of safe and sane celebration of the birthday of the republic has been inaugurated for the state in the high school contests held in Athens on each recurring Fourth of July.

The event is not a local one. All Georgia is here for the contests—the competition—selected cream of the high school students, boys and girls, composing the dozen delegations coming one from each congressional district of the state to participate in the essay, spelling, music, declamation, recitation and athletic events, which make up the two days' program. The winners in these several competitions in each district in a contest held several weeks ago are sent to the state meet here and along with them (while, too, the university summer school is in session) the association of high school teachers, principals and superintendents is in session.

The recitation contest for girls occurred this morning at 11 o'clock in the chapel; the athletic events took place before a great holiday crowd at Sanford field this afternoon, beginning at 3:45 o'clock; the music contest for a $300 scholarship in Brenau conservatory and the all-Georgia spelling match were held this evening at 8:45 o'clock. The boys' declamation contest will be the final event tomorrow at 11 and the prize winners will then be announced.

Practically every section of the state is represented and the success of this, the fourth annual meeting of the kind, is the pledge that this sort of state-wide celebration will be a feature in all the coming Fourths of July.

INSURRECTION BY AUGUSTA POLITICIANS

Augusta, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—The local political situation is attracting attention far and wide on account of the attitude taken by the L. C. Hayne ticket for the city council, in withdrawing from the race. Their act was unprecedented, and took the entire city by a great surprise.

The white primary committee in this city, also in the county, has been the supreme organization for a number of years, in the matter of elections. The committeemen were all considered nonpartisan, or enough so to give the other fellow a square deal. The developments recently, however, have convinced the Hayne supporters that they are not getting the end of treatment that should be handed them.

The great split between the Hayne ticket and the primary committee came, when the primary subcommittee announced to the board of registry examiners, appointed by Mayor Barrett, that they would make up the registry list, and would not consider any of the work done by the city board. In the past the city board has always been considered supreme, and there has never been any appeals from their decisions. The Hayne people declared that the board appointed from the primary committee was antagonistic to their candidacy, and they withdrew from the primary, and announced for the regular election, rather than submit to such treatment. The withdrawal was done 15 days before the date of the primary.

The primary committee contends that they will put on a primary July 10, and have the names of the Hayne ticket on the ballot. The Hayne people contend that they will fight the plan by injunction proceedings, so the local situation, instead of clearing up, seems to be getting more muddled than ever before.

R. F. MADDOX HOST AT BARBECUE YESTERDAY

Robert F. Maddox was host yesterday at a delightful old-fashioned southern barbecue, which was perfect in every detail and carried out to the letter the time honored traditions of this feast. The guests were Mr. Maddox's associates in the various companies in which he is an officer, the American National bank, the Old Dominion Guano Company and the Maddox-Rucker Cotton Company, about seventy-five people being present.

The barbecue was given at his country estate, Woodhaven. After an informal gathering among the guests the dinner was served on the terraces at 2 o'clock. Seldom has such a sumptuous spread been prepared for a barbecue, the tables heaped with barbecued lamb and pork, golden fried chicken and everything that goes along in such a select company.

Fruit from the Woodhaven orchards proved a real treat to those assembled, and after dining, the guests enjoyed the privilege of inspecting the beautiful home and grounds. The occasion was one of more than usual pleasure from the originality which marked it, and the guests did not depart until the late afternoon.

WORK ON ELECTRIC PLANT BEGINS SOON

Augusta, Ga., July 4.—General Manager E. C. Deal returned to the city today from the east and reports that work on the Stevens creek power development will be started at once. This will be for the development of 30,000-horsepower.

Mr. Deal went to New York to carry the remains of young W. N. Coler, who drowned at Tybee island two Sundays ago. He was the son of one of the owners of the local street railway.

The Stevens creek development will be one of the largest hydro-electric plants in this part of the country. The plan is to furnish light and power to points as far distant as Savannah. The plant will cost $200,000.

LODGE OF SORROW WILL BE HELD BY MINOR LODGE

The Minor Masonic Lodge, 603, will hold a special communication at the East Alabama Temple Sunday, July 7, for the purpose of conducting a "Lodge of Sorrow." The Masons are requested to meet in the lodge room at 2:30 o'clock and a public ceremony will be held in the Methodist church of East Atlanta at 3 o'clock.

Masons from all city and country lodges will attend to hear an address to be delivered by Grand Master George M. Napier and short talks by W. H. Terrell, J. D. Kilpatrick, and Horace Grant. The Minor lodge is the youngest in the city, having received its charter only last year, but it already has a large membership. The lodge is located at the corner of Glenwood and Flat Shoals avenues.

Lost Vaccination Suit.

Columbus, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—A novel suit was tried in the city court of Columbus, Mrs. Lizzie Higdon suing J. M. Payne for $10,000 personal damages, on the ground that the defendant vaccinated her against her will. The vaccination question was threshed out by the lawyers at great length. A verdict in favor of the defendant was returned.

NEW BUILDING FOR FEDERAL PRISON

The New Structure Will Contain Eight Hundred Cells.

Another new building is in process of construction at the federal prison—a new cell building which will contain a total of 800 cells.

The building is in keeping with the new administration building which was recently erected on the prison reservation by comparatively unskilled prison labor.

While the administration building, however, was designed along Italian renaissance lines, the cell building will follow this style only in the clear story. The box-like effect of the newer building will be broken by six towers, two at each end of the building and two in the facade.

The greatest length of the building will be 564 feet; the width, from face to face of the towers, 81 feet, 8 inches; the height to gutter, 57 feet, 9 inches; and the width between inside walls, 53 feet, 6 inches.

The exterior will be entirely of Stone Mountain granite, while the interior will be costly, non-absorbent, enamel-faced brick. The building will be entirely fireproof, with good window arrangements, sanitary ventilation and heating, and a thoroughly modern equipment.

The floors will be of concrete, and the steel walls and ceilings will be coated with aluminum paint. The cells will contain electric lights, sanitary bedding, a lavatory and closet. The cots will be of steel fastened to the walls, and the steel grating of the doors will have bars about four inches apart, providing for ventilation in the cells.

All the work, except the actual making of the structural steel, is being done by the prisoners, who acquitted themselves well on the new administration building.

MOYER WILL SPEAK ON PRISON REFORM

Warden of Atlanta Penitentiary Will Address Students at University of South.

Warden William H. Moyer, of the federal prison, has been invited to lecture on prison reform work before the Social Service Conference, which will meet during the latter part of July at the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn.

The conference which will be held under the auspices of the university extension department of the university, is an illustration of the constantly increasing interest in prison reform work. Men have been selected to make addresses who know just what is needed to improve prison conditions; and the conference will doubtless be productive of good.

No man is in a better position to speak of prison reform than Warden Moyer. The history of his work at the federal prison near Atlanta will show that he has instituted many reforms here, and that he has kept in touch with all advanced ideas throughout the world.

He has been instrumental in abolishing the striped suit as a mark of degradation, in securing the privilege of conversation for the prisoners, in permitting baseball games on Saturdays, in effecting a better dining room arrangement whereby the prisoners may have their meals in small groups instead of en masse, in the separation of white and colored prisoners at meals, and in many other things has and just and kindly spirit of the warden been evidenced.

Memorial to Butt.

Augusta, Ga.,—July 4.—(Special.)—There will be a meeting of the finance committee of the city council tomorrow afternoon, for the purpose of considering the placing of a concrete bridge over the Augusta canal, which will be ornamented by the Butt Memorial association. The ladies in charge of the memorial to the late Major Archibald Butt have decided that they will ornament the bridge, with an arch, or some other appropriate ornament.

The TRUST COMPANY OF GEORGIA is open to depositors from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.; Saturdays till 1 p. m. Four per cent paid on deposits.

Major Greene Resigns.

Columbus, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—Major W. S. Greene has resigned as general manager of the Columbus Waterworks Company. Major Greene is now at Alexandria, Va., where he is recuperating from illness. G. T. Preer will probably succeed him as waterworks manager.

DR. R. W. LOVETT DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Dr. R. W. Lovett, one of the widest known Methodist preachers in the state, who has also been a practicing physician, died Wednesday, at his home in Mobley, Ga., after an illness of six weeks. He was 94 years of age and the oldest living alumnus of Emory college.

Two sons, who are residents of Atlanta, are among the relatives who survive him, Rev. W. C. Lovett, editor of the Wesleyan Christian Advocate, and R. O. Lovett, of 333 Gordon street, West End. The funeral services were held Thursday and were attended by several persons from Atlanta.

To Deepen Channel.

Augusta, Ga., July 4.—Now that the federal government has compelled both the city of Augusta and the Southern railroad to put draws in their steel bridges over the Savannah river, in order to permit river freight boats to pass above the bridges, there has been an engineer sent here for the purpose of surveying the river and making a report upon the cost of deepening the channel for a mile along the river front. The deep channel would carry the boats along by some of the large manufacturing concerns, and cotton warehouses.

VAN CORTLANDT UNCLE OF GLOVER

Atlanta Man Related to Distinguished New Yorker Who Died Recently.

H. W. B. Glover, traffic manager of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company, with headquarters in Atlanta, is a nephew of Augustus Van Cortlandt, the distinguished citizen of New York city who died recently. Mr. Glover's mother was a sister of Mr. Van Cortlandt.

Augustus Van Cortlandt was a descendant of Stephanus Van Cortlandt, one of New York's earliest mayors, in the young days of the city. A great part of the Van Cortlandt estate property was taken by the city of New York some years ago, and is now known as Van Cortlandt park. The old home where Mr. Glover's grandfather and his uncle lived for years has been preserved by the city and especially assigned to the Colonial Dames, who have gathered relics of great value in the house.

The New York Times says of the death of Mr. Van Cortlandt:

Augustus Van Cortlandt, the original owner of the property which became Van Cortlandt park, died yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. John W. Munro, at Bartow-on-Sound, L. I., aged 85 years. Augustus Van Cortlandt was the last of the older generation whose real estate holdings in upper Manhattan were recently dispersed at a sale. He leaves five sons, of whom the oldest, Augustus Van Cortlandt, Jr., resides at Garden City, L. I. Funeral services will be held on next Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at Christ church, Pelham.

Columbus, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—R. M. Harding, formerly of Pensacola, Fla., has been named as general superintendent of the Columbus Railroad Company. No changes are made in the personnel of the company's officials, this being an entirely new office that has been created.

LAWMAKERS TO LAND ON PLUTOCRATIC STENOS

Thomasville, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—The commissioners of Thomas county are of the opinion that the pay of $15 per day to the court stenographers of the various circuits of the state is too large a remuneration for their services and favors the introduction into the legislature of a bill reducing the per diem which each county has to pay for such services to a smaller sum, from $5 to $7.50 a day being, they think sufficient.

It is understood that the Hon. Elias Lott of Coffee county will introduce a bill at this session of the legislature looking to the reduction of such high fees as are paid the court stenographer and the representatives for it. Thomas will be instructed to vote for it.

THEATERS

Keith Vaudeville.
(At the Forsyth.)

Two immense gatherings sang "The Star Spangled Banner" with Gus Edwards' Song Revue at the Forsyth yesterday. It was a sight worth seeing, but there are many such happenings at the popular theater. The bill this week has stood the test in a real splendid fashion. There has been comfort within the theater, while out on the streets there was more or less unpleasantness. The show is good, as good as the best that has been offered, and there is the sort of variety that make any vaudeville program of the worth while quality.

It was a pretty sane Fourth in the morning.

If you must swear at the weather, hand the ice trust one.

The summer novel is no burden. It is usually light literature.

How quickly the Baltimore hotel men got in the millionaire class.

When asked if he is "dee-lighted," the Colonel's reply is "Search me!"

"Search me," says Roosevelt. And they'll sure make him stand and deliver.

Probably prizes will be offered for lists of the best names for the new party.

The Texas voters may at least claim that the 9-foot ticket "covers the ground."

By all means, rush what is left of the republican elephant to the Smithsonian museum.

Of course, the unnecessary noises of July 4 do not include the Independence orator.

No, Baltimore isn't exactly herself again. She's now in the throes of counting the cash.

Later on we'll be able to use the band-wagons to haul the mighty harvests of the country.

Ananias clubs will have a new lease of life when the real campaign thunder begins to roar.

With politics raging around you, it's impossible to lay any plans for early Christmas shopping.

And the coal man who calls to remind you of your winter fires only adds to the sweltering condition.

Even with foodstuffs as high as they are, numerous banquets should be coming to the delegates.

The war correspondents will not be left lonesome. The political caldron has just commenced to boil.

Suffragettes take great risks, but so far they haven't gone sky-high on the wings of the aeroplanes.

They are silent about the name for the new party, but how can it speak for itself when the Colonel's voice is in good trim?

There was very little speaking on the Fourth, the orators having decided to reserve their thunder for the national campaign.

"Politics, politics, politics," the campaign horses neigh, and hike for the shiny summit, where the saints all shout "Hooray!"

"Father" spent Independence Day toiling at home, his only enjoyment being the sending of a telegram to the family at the cool summer resort.

The Baltimore American says that the churches of that city were not overcrowded by delegates. Perhaps they preferred to hear the campaign organs.

The ignorant alien who said Theodore Roosevelt was "king of the United States" might have escaped notice had he stated that the third-termer wanted to be.

The Baltimore Sun drops into poetry by way of farewell:

The tumult and the shouting cease,
The howling and the hate are o'er,
And fast as ever trains will go
They're hiking out of Baltimore.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

We are on the threshold of a tremendous upheaval in American politics and the signs of the times indicate as its result the disintegration of the republican party.

The climax has been gradually encroaching for three and a half years; it has been perceptibly accelerated since the democrats, under Oscar Underwood, began the reincarnation of party solidarity in the house of representatives: the summit is forecast by the ultimate harmony with which the democratic national convention at Baltimore adopted a platform that appeals to the sentiment that prevails overwhelmingly in this country today.

If doubt lingered, it has been dispelled by the rapid-fire desertions from Colonel Roosevelt's "national progressive" program following quickly on the heels of the developments at Baltimore. The governor of Minnesota, the president of the republican "progressive" league of Wisconsin, the "progressive" republican United States Senators Work of California and Bristow of Kansas, "progressive" republican senators and representatives generally, Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, pronounced republican "progressive" and a dominant national figure—literally shoals of the republican and independent element that had once leaned to the "national progressive" party or its equivalent—have conceded that democratic action has eliminated the need or the success of a so-called "third party" movement and that the election of the democratic ticket is assured.

These signs bear a sledge-hammer significance.

Equally emphatic are those coming from the democratic side. The discord which appeared superficially at Baltimore has vanished. Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany, has started a crusade for the democratic ticket that has in it the ring of sincerity and of confidence in victory. Stanchfield, of New York, once nominee for governor, who gave Mr. Bryan the most terrific drubbing—and a justified one—he received on the convention floor, has buried the hatchet and predicts democracy will sweep New York state. Woodrow Wilson has himself sent for Nugent and Smith, of New Jersey, his most inveterate foes, and they are going to him with bona fide tenders of support and confidence.

North, east, south, west, the tale is the same. The barometer reads similarly from whatever angle it is viewed.

Long ago The Constitution prophesied that the republican party was riding for its final fall; that a united and harmonious democracy, embodying in its creed and actions and candidates every sane desire of the American people, was destined to return to a long lease of national power. The prophecy is being hourly vindicated. It will be clinched at the polls next November. The signs of the times cannot be misinterpreted.

THE NEW AMERICANISM.

By singular coincidence, two Atlanta ministers last Sunday chose the spirit back of Independence Day for a sermon on patriotism. They were the Rev. L. O. Bricker, of the First Christian church, and the Rev. Dr. Hugh K. Walker, of the First Presbyterian church.

It is eminently fitting that from the pulpit should come pleas for devotion to country in its higher aspects.

The man who is a good citizen is fairly apt to be a good Christian, or at least an observer of that code of ethics which is essentially that of the Galilean.

The reverse holds with almost equal pertinence.

We live in an era which is that of a new conception of citizenship, and it may correctly be characterized as the broader Americanism. In that civic creed is no room for bigotry of opinion, or bitterness of sectionalism. We are all agreed upon many things, whether we belong to any party or no party.

Foremost, perhaps, is the national mandate, gathering momentum, that the states and the nation give primary attention to the health of its coming and its ruling generations.

We are virtually a unit in the declaration that the public servant must be clean in his affiliations, loyal to his trust, a foe to sham, a friend to true progress. In public life, efficiency is the desideratum. In business, honesty and the absence of unfair short-cuts begin to bid for their permanent day in court.

We are seeing that, whatever divergence there may be of geography, of inheritance, of tradition or of custom, a common Americanism covers us all as with a cloak.

The old misgiving—more or less hypocritical—that the government would go bankrupt through partisan knavery—has yielded to the conviction that ever and always American sanity may be expected to redeem the occasion.

Such is the new Americanism. No time more appropriate offers for its consideration than that day upon which the fathers wrote the document that gave civilization its first mighty impulse towardly genuinely democratic government.

CRISIS IN MEXICO.

Reports from the theater of war in Mexico indicate that federal and insurgent forces have met in one last grapple, the issue of which is to decide finally whether stable government or anarchy is to rule in the southern republic.

It is also stated from trustworthy sources that the odds incline largely to the side of Madero's army, and that before the passage of many days—perhaps hours—it will have dealt the hosts of Orozco a death-blow.

It is probable that every Mexican genuinely interested in the future of his country will hope this prophecy is to be verified. Long enough has the country paid the penalty for political reincarnation in the paralysis of business, international distrust and, everywhere, chaos bordering on anarchy. It has never been apparent that the success of a movement against Madero would supply a better government. At most, it would only prolong disorder and bloodshed.

On this side of the Rio Grande, the same reasoning obtains. American investments in Mexico have been imperiled, where not impaired. The shadow of the necessity of intervention has disturbed every genuine American statesman.

The permanent return of peace to Mexico, and the inauguration of a program of genuinely constructive nature, would be a happy development for all North America. Its effect would be felt in the scrappy Central American republics no less than in Mexico and our own country.

STATE SHOULD TREAT---NOT PUNISH.

In singular concurrence with the action of Representative Tarver, of Whitfield, in introducing a bill in the legislature looking ultimately to the establishment of an institution for the treatment of victims of the drug habit, comes the action of Judge Andrew Calhoun, of the city court of Atlanta, in sentencing eleven of these unfortunates to an eight-months term in the hope of reclaiming them.

The scene in the city court of Atlanta is reflected in every county in Georgia in varying, but always tragic, proportions. With the increasing pressure of civilization, men and women have become steadily more easy prey to narcotics and stimulants. Public and private sanatoriums are now taxed with them, and even then the demand ever grows.

Whatever steps the state eventually takes in this direction should be directed toward whisky as well as to drug habitues. There are as many of the latter as of the former in this state, if not more; and the prospect for their rehabilitation is always more promising from the scientific standpoint.

Laws should also be passed clothing the state with more powers in dealing with such unfortunates. At present, authority in this direction is wholly inefficient, and works to the detriment equally of the state and those it seeks to reclaim to its service.

"Just From Georgia"

A Burning Proposition.

I.

The sun's a blazing jewel on the forehead of the sky,
And a sizzling proposition is the world in red July,
And you hear a fellow singing, as the weather blazes by:
"Red hot, and all the time a-heatin'!"

II.

"To think," a growler's saying, "in this happy earthly clime,
Where a feller every minute should be feeling mighty prime,
The weather should be fixin' him to blaze before his time!
Red hot and all the time a-heatin'!"

Blazing Times in Billville.

It is the season when we boil eggs in the millpond and roast beef on the roof.

Campaign orators who speak in "fiery periods" aggravate the weather and run a risk of being lynched.

Even the smashing of all the thermometers in town hasn't cooled the weather a particle.

Our preacher said, Sunday: "If the devil's in the weather it's a sure sign that the place he hails from isn't cooling off."

The Pull Through Chaps.

This for consolation,
When trouble is in view:
In spite of bills from Billville
We'll all
Pull
Through.

II.

We'll reap a lot o' roses,
Bright-shining with the dew:
With legislators lawing
We'll all
Pulf

III.

And one day at the gateway
Where pearls'll shine for you
You'll hear the angels shoutin':
"They'll all
Pull
Through.

Letters From People

A Good Suggestion.

Editor Constitution: In view of the outlook for an overwhelming democratic victory in November, I suggest that the democrats in the democratic states perfect organizations immediately and tender to the national campaign committee their services to be used in the doubtful states in the most beneficial way.

It would doubtless be gratifying to Governor Wilson and his friends throughout the country to see the Empire State of the South, the former home of Governor Wilson, the native home of Mrs. Wilson and two of their daughters, take the initiative in this movement.

A united systematic campaign will make victory all the more certain. Most respectfully,

J. R. SMITH.

"OLDEST LIVING SUIT" FINALLY COMES TO END

New York, July 4.—A case which has kept its place on the calendar of the New York courts for ninety years has just been brought to a conclusion here. The action, which has long been known as the "oldest living suit," was begun in 1822, and was brought to trial in 1826 before Chancellor Kent. It was instituted to dissolve the United Insurance Company of New York, and the chancellor directed that the corporation should be wound up. Its assets were collected and its debts having been liquidated, proceedings were taken to distribute the remainder among the stockholders and creditors of the company.

The identity of the persons to whom certain claims should be paid was still in dispute when the liquidators completed their work and the money involved, about $3,000, was deposited with the state comptroller. The descendants and heirs-at-law of the claimants recently succeeded in proving their title to the sums and a court order will be served on the state comptroller this week for the payment of the money, which has been in the hands of the state for eighty-six years.

Only the principal of the fund can be recovered by the claimants, but if they could collect the amount with compound interest they would be entitled to $385,000. The state of New York, therefore, has benefited to the extent of more than $380,000 by its custodianship of the $3,000 since 1826.

RESISTING ARREST, NEGRO KILLS OFFICER

Birmingham, Ala., July 4.—Arnold Reske, special agent for the Tidewater Street Railway line, was fatally shot at 3 a. m. at Ensley by an unknown negro. Reske was on the city patrol wagon assisting in answering a call, when the negro leading a cow was met. The officer dismounted from the patrol and approached the negro, who opened fire, inflicting a wound that caused death later. The negro escaped.

FIRES OLD ANVIL TO CELEBRATE JULY 4TH

Thomasville, Ga., July 3.—One of the special features of the celebration of the "Glorious Fourth" in Thomasville and one that always attracts much attention is the firing by Captain Charlie Stuart of his anvil.

This anvil has rather an interesting history and is only used on occasions of special importance. It was made in an iron foundry in Valdosta while Captain Stuart was host of the old Stuart house in that city, and the occasion for its making was the coming of President Jefferson Davis, of the confederacy, when he made his memorable and last trip through the south in 1886, an occasion which Mr. Stuart thought deserving of some display of enthusiasm out of the ordinary.

The anvil was made and put in a place where it would make as much noise as possible and when the train bearing Mr. Davis came into sight the anvil was fired again and again.

Since that memorable occasion the anvil is only brought into use on the Fourth of July, and after firing it today, Captain Stuart said it would not be used again until November, when he expected to fire it in honor of the election of Woodrow Wilson as president of the United States. It has not been used in that capacity since the election of Grover Cleveland, but that there will be occasion for it again this fall Captain Stuart feels certain and he expects to enjoy the pleasure of once more honoring the election of a democratic president with the old anvil.

FAMOUS PECAN GROVES BRING RECORD PRICE

Albany, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—The famous Barnwell pecan groves of Baconton, located a few miles of Albany in what has become known as the Albany district, have been sold to a group of capitalists for a record price of $200,000.

The Barnwell grove contains 600 acres, is considered the finest developed pecan grove in the world, and its growth has been watched with a great deal of interest, as it is the first grove of any size in one tract to be developed in the Albany district. It represents all that is known to pecan culture, and the record price received for the eight-year old grove will no doubt add great impetus to pecan culture in Georgia. During the past few years 56,000 acres have been planted in pecan in the Albany district and the success of Mr. Barnwell's grove bespeaks success for the other groves that are just now coming into bearing. The grove was planted eight years ago by Charles M. Barnwell, who came to this section from New Orleans.

The following parties from the syndicate which has purchased the grove: W. C. Fripp, banker, Columbia, S. C.; William Weston, Columbia, S. C.; Harry Johnson, president of the Consumers' Fertilizer Company, New York; F. W. Royer, capitalist, Pittsburg; Judson P. Walsh, president Southern Nut and Fruit Co., New York.

There are 11,500 bearing trees in the grove, less than eight years old. Experts have estimated the yield of the orchard this year to run between 75,000 and 100,000 pounds of nuts. They are all of the finest quality, and will sell from 75 cents to $1.25 a pound, and it is expected that the crop will average 75 cents at wholesale. The trees are not full grown as yet, and have not matured.

A gentleman who is supposed to be close to Mr. Barnwell has stated that the Barnwell grove had probably cost Mr. Barnwell from $50,000 to $75,000. It is conservatively figured that he has made a profit from the sale of $150,000. This represents eight years' work and during the time he was cultivating his grove he has secured small yields of nuts, last year running about 4,000 pounds, and in addition has cultivated different crops between the trees, as this year he has taken an oat crop, and will get a crop of peavine hay from the ground under the trees. In addition he has about 750 hogs in his orchard.

SALUTE OF 48 GUNS FOR SAVANNAH'S JULY 4TH

Savannah, Ga., July 4.—Savannah is giving due recognition to the national holiday which sees a new star in the flag. The day is not a very bright one, a slight rain falling during the morning, but this did not dampen the ardor of the patriots. At sunrise the Chatham artillery with a record extending from Lexington to the Cuban war, fired a national salute in the park extension, and at 8:30 o'clock Captain John Rourke, a patriotic American by adoption, sent off his usual salute of 48 guns at his iron foundry along the water front.

The public buildings are closed and the retail merchants have declared a holiday.

There will be two games of baseball between Savannah and Albany this afternoon, and among the other sports were a series of spirited motorcycle races over a part of the famous auto course, and motor boat and batteaux races at Isle of Hope, a nearby resort. The Junior Order United American Mechanics took over a thousand Americans to Springfield, Ga., to hear appropriate addresses and enjoy the day.

REMARKABLE MEMORY OF A BLIND STUDENT

New York, July 4.—Clement Coffin, a student in the Brooklyn School for the Blind, has an amazing faculty of memorizing facts and figures. One of the latest tests given him by his teachers was a census list of the 285 cities of the United States which have more than 20,000 population. After he had gone over the list several times Coffin was found to have committed perfectly the exact figures of population for each city for the years 1910, 1900, 1890 and 1880. In addition to telling the population of these cities Coffin could reverse the process, and when the census figures were given was able to state the city that had that population.

THREE ELECTRIC BOLTS CAUSE PANIC ON SHIP

New Orleans, July 4.—Captain W. J. Barber, of the British steamship Virgil, First Mate Williams and Second Mate Qualey were knocked almost unconscious by lightning June 24, when off the coast of Jamaica, three bolts striking the bridge, wrecking the fore and aft masts and doing other damage. The crew was panic-stricken, said Captain Barber, and many have not yet completely recovered from the experiences. The Virgil arrived here yesterday from Antwerp.

"We had made everything fast for an oncoming blow," said the captain, "and had barely finished before the first stroke of lightning hit the bridge and the whole ship trembled. Within a few seconds the second bolt came and was followed almost immediately by the third and most severe stroke, which hit where we were standing on the bridge. Both my mates were knocked down, but I held on to the rail and did not fall. The compass was disarranged, and I was so upset I could barely keep the vessel on its course."

ROOSEVELT WANTED TO SPANK BOY WHO HIT MRS. ROOSEVELT

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 4.—Somewhere in the little village of Woodside just west of this town, there is a boy who narrowly missed going down to history as having been spanked by ex-President Roosevelt. The boy was playing by the roadside yesterday when the colonel's automobile came along. Colonel Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt were passengers. The urchin threw a stone at the machine as it whizzed by and hit Mrs. Roosevelt in the face.

Although she was not injured, the colonel stopped his machine and started in pursuit of the boy, who had concealed himself in the midst of a small army of barefooted, dirty-faced future presidents. Colonel Roosevelt was unable to identify the guilty one, however, and the culprit went to bed unspanked.

FOURTH OF JULY SCENES IN ATLANTA 25 YEARS AGO

It is as true of the Fourth of July as of any other human affair that "all things change as all things change here."

This by way of a prelude to a little history touching the Glorious Fourth as celebrated in Atlanta.

Some twenty or twenty-five years ago on every fourth day of July great swarms of country negroes swept down upon the city on excursion trains and lighted at the old union station, and there stayed lighted until the excursion trains pulled out late in the afternoon. To entertain these Fourth of July excursionists and at the same time pluck away as many simoleons from their pocketbooks as possible, many enterprising Atlanta negroes located lunch and refreshment booths all along Wall street on the railroad front from Pryor to Whitehall street.

Picturesque Booths.

The old Fourth of July lunch booths were picturesque as well as attractive to the hungry visitors. The booths were made of planks placed on barrels or boxes and covered with flapping cloths, supported by improvised poles, to keep off the sun's rays and also the shower from the thunder storm that has always been scheduled for the Fourth of July. In these booths were displayed piles of fried fish, fried chicken, sausages, watermelons and pink lemonade.

It has been related of the Rev. Alex W. Bealer, now a noted Baptist minister, that when he was an Atlanta newspaper reporter he wrote up a Fourth of July story every year, and invariably described negro booths on Wall street and always related each year about a negro baby falling into a tub of lemonade.

Never Left the Depot.

The great crowds of negro visitors never got out of sight of the union depot. The seemed to be afraid of getting lost if they strayed too far. So they hung around the union depot all day feasting on fish, chicken, watermelons and lemonade. They seemed to enjoy the day despite of their remaining in close quarters.

A few years ago the police authorities decided that the negro lunch booths in the heart of the city were too cosmopolitan for a big city, and so licenses and permits for the booths were refused. The negro visitors from that time began to drop off, and excursion trains grow less, so now there are neither booths nor excursionists from the rural districts.

Quite a Different Fourth.

Today while Atlanta is enjoying a safe and sane Fourth of July there is no trace of negro booths or country excursionists around the union depot. Yesterday the scene about the depot was as quiet as that of any peaceful Sunday afternoon. The old scene on the Fourth of July is now remembered by the oldest citizens as a thing that belonged to Atlanta's past. If the Rev. Alex Bealer had been in Atlanta yesterday and had been assigned to write a Fourth of July story he would have had to look far and wide for any material out of which he could have woven a story that would have been as unique as his old-time ones about the union depot or as thrilling as a pickaninny taking a bath in pink lemonade.

LIP READING IS SUGGESTED FOR SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF

The suggestion that a school for deaf children in Atlanta be established is meeting with approval on many sides. Physicians especially are interested in the movement, and Dr. Dunbar Roy has called attention to the fact that if the school for deaf children is established only the newer and more satisfactory methods of teaching should be used.

The newer and most beneficial method of teaching deaf children is through the oral or lip-reading method, says Dr. Roy, and if Atlanta is progressive enough to establish the school for the deaf it should adopt this method rather than the older method of the sign language.

In this connection Dr. Roy says:

"I note in the daily papers that there is a movement on foot to make some provisions in the public schools for teaching the deaf by means of the sign language. Every aid for these poor unfortunate individuals should meet the hearty co-operation of all good citizens.

"While I am much in favor of the object sought to be obtained I feel that the methods anticipated to be used should receive a more thorough consideration than seems to have been the case. From the newspaper report of the subject, I understand that the board of education expects to adopt the sign language for the deaf children, which means the communication between these unfortunate individuals by the aid of the finger and hand signs, such as has been in existence for years. This method was most excellent until something was found better by the scientific study of the deaf child.

"At present this old method of sign language is being rapidly superseded by the oral or lip reading. Most of the schools for the deaf, that is, the advanced and scientific institutions, have adopted the newer method of lip reading. I predict that it will not be long before there will be no deaf institutions which teach the sign language.

"Under the circumstances it seems to me proper that a progressive city like Atlanta should adopt methods for its teaching which are scientifically and practically the best which even now are beginning to be universally used. The advantages of lip reading can readily be understood in that it not only allows the deaf person to understand anyone who speaks distinctly by the proper movements of the mouth, but it will develop its own speech, as is being demonstrated daily in those schools for the deaf which are teaching this method.

"It is true the method is new in the south, but not so much in the east and middle west. Teachers who know this method can be obtained for instructing the deaf in Atlanta, and if such is recognized to be the best, let us not take a backward step in advancing the educational facilities of the deaf child. If we are not in a position to make a big beginning in the matter, let us at least make a correct one, even though it will be slower than that which is expected to be accomplished by a more obsolete form.

"I trust the board of education will consider this point before the final adoption of the use of the sign language in our public schools. Yours very truly,

"DUNBAR ROY, M. D."

PUBLIC OFFICIALS CONTROL GRAND JURY

Jersey City, July 4.—Something of a sensation has been created here by a letter sent to County Judge John A. Blair by eight members of the grand jury asking to be relieved from further duty because "whenever the conduct of public officials has been brought into question it has been impossible to get any bills."

The grand jury recently investigated reports of alleged jury fixing in the trials of County Register John J. McMahon and Constable John Daly, charged with conspiracy in the sale of a school site.

NERVES OF MRS. DARROW SHATTERED BY TRIAL

Los Angeles, July 4.—Mrs. Clarence S. Darrow, who has been in constant attendance at the trial of her husband for jury bribing since it began on May 15, is confined to her home by illness. Shattered nerves, due to the long strain of the trial, are attributed by her physicians as the cause of her condition.

There was no session of the trial today, and most of the jurors spent the holiday visiting their families.

Three more witnesses for the state remain to be examined, and it is believed that the prosecution will rest some time tomorrow. In that event the defense probably will ask for an adjournment until Monday before opening its case.

TWO MISSING WORDS INVALIDATED THE ACT

Washington, July 4.—The whole extensive program for the joint encampment and maneuvers of the regular army and the national guard, which began today, came near being suspended through an omission in the enrollment of the act of congress providing for the exercises.

In the haste of the legislators the law bore the usual initial declaration: "By the senate and the house of representatives of the United States," but the words "of America," which should have followed, were omitted and the act thus was made invalid.

The war department law offices, however discovered that the appropriations for the maintenance of the regular establishment might be used to a limited extent for about two weeks to defray the expenses of the troops, and before the expiration of that time congress is expected to correct the error.

FOR BETTER METHODS OF HANDLING COTTON

Washington, July 4.—That the cotton planters of the south are anxious to co-operate with the department of agriculture in the efforts of the government to introduce better methods of handling and marketing cotton, is the report brought to Secretary Wilson by Charles J. Brand and W. A. Sherman, who have just returned from an extended reconnaissance trip through the south and southwest.

"The great weakness of the cotton-growing interests," said Mr. Brand, "is their lack of organization in units of sufficient size to enable them to furnish even running bales in commercial quantities. It is hoped to overcome this difficulty through the organization of cotton growers' associations, all of whose members will grow a uniform variety of cotton, which investigations of the department have shown best adapted to their condition. The department contemplates actual demonstrations in handling and marketing in the most direct manner practicable.

"The New England and southern spinning interests have expressed their interest in the new work. In the Imperial Valley in California, where cotton had been grown commercially only for three years, the growers already have organized. Similar organizations are getting together in other states."

WAREHOUSE SYSTEM.

Sea Island Cotton to Be Stored for Farmers.

Savannah, Ga., July 4.—After two days' conference with Union Sea Island Cotton Company, which warehouses the greater part of Sea Island cotton crop, T. W. Carter, president of the National Warehouse Company, announced that the Sea Island Company would become part of the national system.

Warehouses with at least 100,000 bales' capacity are to be built here within the next twelve months to handle the crop. Savannah will be headquarters for Georgia, Florida and South Carolina. Smaller warehouses are to be built in a number of towns in Georgia to house the short staple crop.

The company is to store cotton and advance the farmer money, and to hold for higher prices, releasing only enough to supply spinners. The Farmers' union is co-operating with Mr. Carter, and representatives will start at once to see the individual farmers to get the crops pledged for the company.

HOLDER OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

Addresses Holiday Crowd a Ball Ground.

Advocates Parcels Post, Increase in Agricultural and Drainage Work, and Suggests Curtailment of Expenses Along Certain Lines.

Ball Ground, Ga., July 4.—(Special.) The heat of a torrid sun beating down on their heads, a crowd estimated to number 3,000 per sons heard Hon. John N. Holder, of Jackson county, speaker of the house of the general assembly of Georgia, declare himself in favor of the establishment of a parcels post, and pledge to work for increased salaries for postal employees, in the opening address of his campaign for congress from the ninth district, here today.

"I am standing only on my merits," he declared. "I intend to make a clean fight, and will not indulge in a campaign of vituperation and abuse."

The meeting was the feature of the celebration of the "Glorious Fourth," in Cherokee county, and attracted people from Fannin, Pickins, Forsyth, Dawson and Gilmer counties. Candidates for election on the county ticket availed themselves of the gathering of voters from the remotest sections of the county, and put forth their claims. The speakers were Judge N. A. Morris, candidate for re-election; William Butts, candidate for solicitor general, and Herbert Clay, of Marietta.

The crowd, after patiently listening to other speakers, enthusiastically welcomed Speaker Holder, and accorded him an attentive hearing. He prefaced his remarks with an explanation that it was not his desire to make a long speech, but the crowd urged him to go as far as he liked.

"We are glad to hear from you," someone shouted from the rear.

Reviews Public Record.

He referred briefly to his record since entering public life, and explained that during the years he devoted himself to public affairs he made a careful study of the needs of the people, and feels that he is qualified to go to Washington and represent the district in the lower house. He refuted the charges uttered, he said, by those unfriendly to his candidacy, and ridiculed the story that he was the owner of rich lands in Savannah.

"I am proud of the record I have made since I became a member of the legislature," he said. "It was my ambition to better the school system in the state, and all through the fight, which was punctuated with disappointment and discouragement, I saw achievement ahead. What I have accomplished is a matter of record."

He said that he was pledged to himself to fight for more appropriations for school purposes, and has seen his efforts rewarded year after year. He told the crowd of his work getting a uniform textbook law which has saved the poor childrgn of the state many thousands of dollars.

"There is still more to be accomplished," he said. "There should be a department of health and sanitation established to safeguard the health of the children. The unfortunate men and women confined in the state institutions should be looked after carefully, and, if I am elected, I pledge the people of the state to give these unfortunates every attention."

Favors State Farms.

He called attention to the fact that he federal government gives only $13,000,000 for agricultural purposes, and appropriates $80,000,000 to maintain army posts. He advocated the establishment of state farms for agricultural experiment for the benefit of the farmer.

The abolition of the convict lease system was commended by the speaker. He declared that he was proud of the fact that he took a part in the fight which removed a stain from the state. He said that he was in favor of apportionment of convicts in the counties.

He said that the government should collect a tax on incomes, and told the crowd that he would advocate and work for such a law if elected to congress. He also declared that he favored giving more power to the interstate commerce commission, explaining that the commission was the real arbiter between the people and the railroads.

The unlimited terms of justices of the supreme court of the United States was another vital question touched upon by the speaker. He declared that the terms should be limited. He was loudly applauded. The development of the mining, fruit and marble industries of Georgia should be encouraged by every means possible, and he said that this work would be given special attention. He declared that the immigration laws of the United States were not fair, and said he would urge regulation of foreign immigration.

Other Expenditures.

"The reckless expenditure of money by the government for junketing trips of the president of the United States should be stopped," he said. "The practice is an imposition on the people of the country."

Concluding his address, Mr. Holder said that he wanted to see the government spend more money to reclaim and develop the lands of the south. He pointed to the appropriations made by the government for irrigating the desert lands of the west.

"If the government spends money to pour water on the lands to make them productive, why can't some be spent to take the water from some of our lands to make them productive," he said.

He spoke briefly on the proposed parcels post, explaining that he was heartily in favor of the movement and would urge the creation of a parcels post. He also said that he was in favor of increased pay for postal employees.

At the close of his address, Mr. Holder was pressed on all sides and congratulated on his platform.

He was asked to address a meeting at Alpharetta during the afternoon, but was forced to abandon the trip on account of rain.

Effective Sunday, July 7th, Southern Railway train No. 6 will leave Atlanta for Macon, Ga., at 12:20 noon, arrive Macon 2:25 p. m. Returning, No. 5 will leave Macon 1:25 p. m., arrive Atlanta 4:00 p. m.

Big Fourth in Americus.

Americus, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—The national holiday was observed in Americus upon a more extensive scale than ever before. Excursion trains brought crowds from every section of southwestern Georgia, and a program of interesting events entertained the visitors. A firemanic tournament, the annual contest of gunners at the targets, the military feature on the rifle range, baseball, barbecues and other attractions, concluding with a spirited glove contest tonight, furnished abundant entertainment. With thousands of people thronging the streets, there was no accident or casualty.

MISS HARRIET QUIMBY'S DEATH TO STOP FLIGHTS BY MISS SCOTT

Miss Blanche Scott, who was flying about 1,000 feet above Miss Harriet Quimby's machine when the accident occurred that caused the deaths of Miss Quimby and William A. P. Willard, who was being carried as a passenger, is likely to abandon the career of an aviator. She saw her friend plunge to her death, and she lost her nerve. Twice she started to descend, but each time became frightened and continued her flight. When she finally volplaned to the earth she landed safely, but when friends reached the machine she had fainted. Miss Quimby was the first American woman to receive a pilot's license, and she was the first woman to fly across the English channel. She had been giving exhibitions for several months.

48 STARS BORNE BY AMERICAN FLAG

New National Banner Flung to Breeze From All Federal Buildings.

Washington, July 4.—The new national flag bearing forty-eight stars, emblematic of all the states, including the recently admitted Arizona and New Mexico, was flung from all federal structures in the country and from the American navy throughout the world today. Thirteen stars only will be permitted in the blue square of the flags that are less than five feet wide, to avoid overcrowding. The red field on the president's flag was changed to blue today, but because of the president's absence only the regular flag fluttered above the white house.

CLAUDE ALLEN ON TRIAL FOR THE SECOND TIME

Wytheville, Va., July 4.—The second trial of Claude Allen was resumed this morning, the juror whose sudden illness brought the case to a halt yesterday having recovered sufficiently to take his place in the jury box.

Six witnesses were examined today, all of them being subjected to severe cross-examination in an effort to have them change statements made at the former trial of the defendant, when he was found guilty of second degree murder. All, however, stuck to their testimony as originally given.

The chief witness today was Clerk Dexter Goad, of Carroll county, great interest centering in his testimony because of the fact that it is one of the theories of the defense that Goad was responsible for the court room tragedy at Hillsville, Va.

DOGS WORRY CANDIDATES

Gordon County Agog on Question of Tax on Dogs.

Calhoun, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—Local politics in Gordon county is getting more interesting and lively as the state primary draws near. There are already five candidates out for representative—George A. Anderson for re-election and S. G. Pass, Ed B. Lewis, O. Calbeck and Professor Ernest Neal.

So far the chief bone of contention between the candidates seems to be the dollar tax on dogs and a few of them favor the repeal of the law.

Many of the voters are urging Colonel John Erwin, of Calhoun, to enter the race against Colonel T. C. Milner for solicitor general.

Marietta's Fourth.

Marietta, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—Marietta citizens had the greatest fourth of July in the city's history today. All registered white voters were invited to a barbecue and general "get together love feast," at the Waterworks park where Mayor Black, ex-Mayor E. H. Clay, Messrs. T. A. Gramling, L. B. Robeson, D. W. Blair and Rev. J. H. Patton made speeches congratulating the citizens on the fine showing made in the city's progress during the past year. In addition to this, three thousand of the county's best citizens joined in an all-day singing in the Cobb county courthouse, led by Sheriff R. S. Lindley. Such singers as the Beall brothers, of Douglasville, were here. At noon they had a picnic dinner on the grounds. It was a gala day with all Cobb's people. Perfect order prevailed throughout the day.

Calhoun, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—James Mayfield and Felton Jackson, were killed, and K. J. Kilgore was seriously injured this afternoon, when lightning struck a peach shed under which a number of white men had taken shelter.

The tragedy occurred on the Veach and Turner plantation, between this city and Adairsville, and the men killed were prominently known throughout this section. Some eight or ten men were in the party which took shelter in the shed when a thunder storm come up, and all were laughing and talking when the bolt struck the house.

POSTAL CLERKS HAVE SESSION

Annual Meeting of Georgia Branch Proves Interesting.

The annual session of the Georgia branch of the United National Association of Postoffice Clerks in Atlanta yesterday proved to be the largest gathering of that organization ever held in the state if not in the south.

When W. H. Moore, of Valdosta, president of the state association, opened the meeting at 10 o'clock in the Carnegie library hall, representatives from every first-class postoffice in the state, as well as from many second-class offices, were in attendance.

Mayor Wynn welcomed the visitors to the city, to which President Moore, on behalf of the state association, responded. An address by Postmaster McKee, of Atlanta, proved an interesting feature, while George M. Sutton, postoffice inspector for the Atlanta division, was given close attention as he spoke to the members of the state organization. Other speakers R. E. Berry and C. E. Stewart, postoffice inspectors; Walter G. Cooper, secretary of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and Rev. Dr. Ellenwood.

After the annual reports of officers and of standing committees, the annual election of officers was held. It resulted:

President, W. H. Moore, of Valdosta; vice president, W. F. C. Lynch, of Newnan; secretary, Miss Mae Wallace, of Atlanta; treasurer, R. S. Ward, of Savannah.

W. H. Moore, of Valdosta, president of the state organization, was elected delegate to the national organization convention in Boston, September next.

In the afternoon the delegates from various sections of the state were entertained at a delightful barbecue at Lakewood.

Cutting Repartee.

"How," said a lawyer to a witness, "how can you possibly bear such testimony against this man who you say is your friend?"

"Sir," said the man, "he is my friend, and I love him, but I love Truth more."

"You should be ashamed," replied the lawyer, "to turn your back on a friend for one who is a perfect stranger to you."

SPEND YOUR MONEY SO IT WILL RETURN TO YOU WITH MORE

We believe that every one should spend his money; to hoard money is to cause general stagnation. Cities and countries drift backwards. We further believe that money should be spent so that it will return with more. Such money causes prosperity. But we also believe that if you can't spend your money to bring a profit to you the most profitable course to pursue is to put it in a savings account. There it has not element of uncertainty, you know it will come back to you with more.

Country Clubs Keep Open House.

East Lake, Brookhaven and the always popular Piedmont Driving Club kept open house yesterday and all day there were groups of happy people happening in at the clubs and enjoying the national holiday. There were flags to demonstrate the appreciation of the national insignia, and last night at the Driving club the center of every table had upon it a flag attached to the white and red roses forming the centerpieces. The orchestra held the note of patriotic music, and altogether there was enthusiastic observance of the great American holiday.

The residence streets were alive with little folks having the kind of celebration they enjoy, and although there was plenty of sport, the tidal wave for a "sane Fourth" had modified the craze for fireworks, a fact which will mean there will be more whole young Americans tomorrow than have been after the glorious Fourth of previous years when so many eyes went with firecrackers and arms and legs were shot off.

At the Driving club there was a company of a hundred or more, and among those entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Mikell, Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Nicolson, Dr. and Mrs. Dunbar Roy, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Peel, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Oglesby, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. R. A. Hobson, Mr. Lee Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wimbish, Mr. W. F. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Manley, Mr. Robert Woodruff, Mr. H. P. Wilson, Mr. Sam Slicer.

A number of automobile parties stopped at Brookhaven Club for tea and supper, and among those entertaining was Mr. W. S. Robinson, who has as his guests Miss Jennie Ashby, Miss Florida Ashby, Mrs. F. M. Gresham, Mr. W. H. Hickman, Mr. W. S. Shears, Mr. A. G. Shears.

Mr. E. Rivers had a party of four, and Mr. Perrin Nicolson entertained for Miss Algate Ellis' guest, Miss Yerger, the party numbering six.

At East Lake the golf course was alive all day with players, and the tennis tournament assembled a big gathering of spectators, who enjoyed refreshments afterwards on the club house porch. Nearly all the cottagers kept open house, and the day at the Country Club was one of typical holiday enjoyment.

In the evening there was an informal dance in compliment to the visiting tennis players.

To Miss Neal.

Mrs. W. F. Lee's bridge party yesterday morning in compliment to Miss Naomi Neal, of White Springs, Fla., was an enjoyable affair of sixteen guests.

The doors were draped with American flags, and red nasturtiums decorated the reception rooms. The score cards were hand-painted in flags, and the national colors were carried out also in the refreshments. The prizes were a silver mirror, a hand-painted vase and for the guest of honor silk stockings.

Mrs. Lee wore pink marquisette and lace, and Miss Neal wore white lingeries cloth and lace.

Whist Club Entertains.

The Wednesday Whist Club entertained delightfully at luncheon yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club in compliment to Mrs. Lowry Arnold, who has made the greatest number of top scores during the year.

Auction bridge was played before luncheon, and the occasion was most enjoyable. The silver loving cup offered by Mrs. Ralph VanLandingham for the highest score of the year was presented Mrs. Hugh McKee.

Church Supper.

The regular monthly Unitarian church supper committee has arranged for a most entertaining and instructive evening as the last social gathering of its kind for the summer. Mr. Joseph Logan, secretary of the Associated Charities, will speak on the subject of the church and charities. Mrs. Farnsworth, a very accomplished violinist, visiting friends in Atlanta, will play. Miss Lena Conkling, soprano, will sing two selected numbers. The usual supper will be served, beginning at 7 o'clock. The place is at the church, corner Spring and Cain streets. The time is this evening.

Home Concert Program.

The second in the series of "home concerts" by members of the Atlanta Musical Association will be given Saturday evening at the country home of the president, Mrs. John M. Slaton, on Peachtree road. Mrs. Edward T. Brown, a member of the executive board, had extended the hospitality of her home, but owing to a death in the family, the plan is changed.

An interesting program has been prepared as follows: A group of Italian folksongs by a visiting artist, Raoul Bonnano, better known as the Duke of Miselmeri. Violin solo, "Meditation from Thais," Massenet; "Hejre Kati," scene from the Czarda—Jeno Hubay; baritone solos, "Over the Desert," Kellie; "A Madrigal," Harris.

The members participating will be Miss Anna Hunt, violinist, Mr. Charles Chalmers, baritone, and Miss Bertha Harwood and Miss Nell Branan, accompanists.

To School Girls.

Mrs. A. J. Swann gave a pretty card party yesterday in compliment to her guests, Miss Sarah O'Kelley, of Round Oak, and Miss Alice Worley, of Birmingham, inviting to meet them a group of the school-girl set.

The Fourth of July was suggested in elaborate detail, and the decorations were an artistic use of the house palms, nasturtiums, and daisies. The game of heart dice was played on the porch, and punch was served there from a bower of daisies. The prizes were a lace fan and a patriotic souvenir.

Mrs. Swann wore a cream lace gown, and she was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. W. Edward Smith, who wore pink silk mull and lace. The guests of honor wore lingerie dresses.

Invited to meet them were: Misses Thelma Carroll, Mary and Katherine Snyder, Mildred Florence, Helen Lamar, Grace Chapman, Nona Faegan, LaFayette Word, Leta and Thelma Bricken, Dorothy Cantrell, Eula and Myrtle Baker, Rosalyn Byrd, Mary Bennett, Ruth Coursey, Martha DeJornette, May and Nora Smith, Katherine and Eleanor Montgomery, Louie May Smith, Sarah Louise Wills.

Miss Lucile Bean will also entertain for Miss Springer's house party.

At "Summer Rest."

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Johnson entertained delightfully at an informal supper and dance at their summer home, "Summer Rest," a few miles from Buckhead.

The guests arrived in an automobile truck, the ride being hugely enjoyed. During the dance fireworks were enjoyed and afterwards watermelons were served in the grove, which was artistically lighted with Japanese lanterns.

Those present were: Misses Katherine Dismer, Bessie Gill, Anna Belle Gill, Mary E. Morgan, Pauline Capers, Grace Rice, Messrs Charles E. Quarles, Edgar M. Johnson, F. A. Smith, E. Bryan Baldwin, Wyatt McNabb, Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett and Mr. and Mrs. George E. Johnson.

To Miss Gautier.

Mrs. Clifford L. Near gave an enjoyable card party Wednesday afternoon in compliment to her niece, Miss Eugenia Gautier, of Columbus, inviting to meet her sixteen guests.

The decorations were in the national colors, and the score cards were flags. The prizes, hand-painted vases, were won by Miss Louise Hill, of Macon, and Miss Alena Jamison, of Macon, and the guest of honor was presented blue satin boudoir slippers.

Mrs. Near was becomingly gowned in white mull and lace, and Miss Gautier wore blue mull and lace.

Misses Arcadia and Janie Near and Miss Frances Mason, wearing dainty lingerie gowns, served punch.

Fifteen Families Will Be the Vanguard of Southern Movement.

Macon, Ga., July 4.—(Special.) Fifteen Hoosier state farmers expect to come to Georgia soon to operate truck farms and they will locate in the vicinity of Macon.

Several farmers from Indiana took advantage of reduced rates during the confederate reunion to visit this section of the country and so impressed were they with the prospects that they went home and spread the news among their neighbors with the result that a committee was selected to make an investigation.

The members of the committee were here yesterday and were taken about the country in automobiles and shown several small farms suitable for truck raising. They were delighted and declared that this was the garden spot of the universe and they would make a favorable report on their return home. They had no doubt but that the entire fifteen families would locate right here in the Macon territory.

Playground Festival.

Macon, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—Plans are being made for a playground festival to be held here in September, and Professor Kingsbury, who is in charge of the playgrounds, will start next week drilling the children for the event. All of the work of the modern playground will be shown and in addition a doll buggy parade with prizes for the prettiest doll buggies will be given. The festival will be for the purpose of showing the people of Macon just what is being accomplished by the playground work. Macon now has two playgrounds and plans are on foot to locate others in East Macon and Vineville, and one will also be set aside for the negroes.

"Initial Egg."

Macon, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—The "initial egg" is the latest innovation in Macon. True, there is only one of them, but that does not detract from the novelty of the thing one bit. Yesterday Henry Willis, a negro poultry raiser, saw one of his White Leghorn hens drop an egg. He picked it up and was surprised to find a raised letter "E" on it. The letter is as perfect as if it had been made by an artist and Henry had come to the conclusion that his hen has adopted Edith, Eve or some other such name, and simply decided to put her initial on her eggs. Henry will watch to see if it will happen again.

Worm Ruins Cantaloupes.

Thomasville, Ga., July 4.—The cantaloupe worm has reached Thomas county and some of the growers report that their whole crops have been ruined and they will be surprised if they find half a dozen sound ones in the whole of their fields. One grower, W. A. Mitchell, who has a field of about fifty acres, reports that his crop is comparatively free from the worms so far and he has shipped this week several carload of very fine cantaloupes. Mr. Mitchell thinks that his immunity from this worm is due to the fact that he used a preparation of Paris green on his, which, while of course it did not touch the cantaloupes, kept the worms away from the crop. The cloudy weather of the past week has made the cantaloupes ripen very slowly and perhaps the invasion of the worms may be worse for the lack of sunshine.

For Rockers of Mahoganized Birch

They have the appearance of dull-finished mahogany, but they are not mahogany.

A mahogany rocker that could be sold at $4.75 would be a very inferior chair; it would be light, frail, of a grade of mahogany that properly would be called African cedar, the cigarbox wood. But see these rockers, lift one, it has weight that foretells long service; sit in one, could it be more comfortable? And besides it is a piece of furniture of graceful lines. One number has the slats of the back running crosswise; the other, lengthwise.

A splendid investment for $4.75.

BEVERLY FOLKS WELCOME TAFT

Thousands Greet the President and Mrs. Taft When Their Train Arrives.

Beverly, Mass., July 4.—Beverly had a joint celebration today in honor of the Fourth of July and the return of its most distinguished summer residents, the president and Mrs. Taft.

Thousands of persons stood for more than an hour at the Beverly station to greet the president when his train pulled in from Boston an hour late. Crowds lined the street to watch him pass, and hundreds more marched behind his automobile to Paramatta, the summer white house.

"It's good to get back to Beverly again," said the president to the reception committee that met him at the station. Mrs. Taft smilingly nodded her approval of that sentiment.

President and Mrs. Taft immediately entered one of the white house cars brought up from Washington several days ago, and, with the Beverly Taft Club as an escort, were driven slowly to Paramatta. A detachment of bluejackets from the dispatch boat Dolphin, anchored in the bay, fell in behind, and the Dolphin fired the presidential salute of twenty-one guns.

The cottage had been prepared for the president's arrival, and on the steps of its wide portico he stood for half an hour and shook hands with the marchers. The executive office here will not be opened at present, for Mr. Taft will return to Washington Sunday night. The president made a short speech to the members of the Taft club. He said:

"I am glad to be here and to be received by the Taft Club of Beverly. You gave me a substantial expression of your confidence in me in the late primary, and I very much appreciate it, and return my thanks to you and to those of the city of Beverly who stood with you in this matter.

"Mrs. Taft and I and my family are glad to be here. We are coming to get all the pleasure there is and all the health and all the energy you have up here in Massachusetts and to renew our claim of being yankees."

GREAT NAVY URGED BY PREMIER BORDEN

London, July 4.—Robert L. Borden, Canadian premier, with his colleagues, J. D. Hazen, minister of marine; C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, and L. P. Pelletier, postmaster general, arrived here this afternoon after having received a civic welcome at Avonmouth from the lord mayor of Bristol. At the London terminus, waiting to greet the Canadian statesman, were Lord Strathcona and many Canadians.

Mr. Borden is the most heralded colonial visitor to come to London for years. The press and the public are making much of his pronouncement. "I stand for a great navy," which is interpreted that Canada is prepared to make a handsome contribution to the British navy in the shape of two more dreadnoughts. Mr. Borden, however, is reticent as to the form in which Canadian assistance to the mother country is to be offered.

Among the many subjects to be discussed between the Canadian statesmen and the British government is that regarding the proposal of the senate committee in Washington that no ship owned by a railway shall be allowed to use the Panama canal.

Before returning to Canada Mr. Borden intends to visit Paris to discuss trade relations with the French government and the question of steamship connection between Canada and France.

KAISER AND THE CZAR HOLDING CONFERENCE

Baltic Port, Russia, July 4.—The German emperor, accompanied by the imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, and his third son, Prince Adalbert, arrived here today on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, escorted by the dreadnought cruiser Moltke, to meet the emperor of Russia, who, with the members of his family, Premier Kentovsoff, and Foreign Minister Basenoff, was already in waiting here.

The Hohenzollern was moored between the Russian imperial yachts Standart and Polarnaia Sviesda. The Emperor of Russia, with a group of high officials, immediately went on board the German imperial yacht and welcomed Emperor William.

In the German, Russian and other capitals great political significance is attached to the imperial meeting, although semi-official statements assert that its only object is the confirmation of the cordial relations between Russia and Germany, for which the way was paved at Potsdam in 1910. It is fully expected nevertheless, that the possibility of putting an end to the war beteen Italy and Turkey, the naval position in the Baltic resulting from the Russian naval act, and other matters of international importance will be discussed.

Whiffs

Not All In.

GEORGE MULLIN, the veteran right-hander of the Detroit Tigers, spiked the report that he is all in by twirling a no-hit, no-run game against the St. Louis Browns yesterday. And to make the event more auspicious, he pitched it on his birthday, his 32nd. George was born on July 4, 1880. Some few days ago Jennings asked waivers on Mullin. Since then the big right-hander has twirled three great games, capping the climax with the performance Thursday, the best effort of them all.

Was Auspicious.

BUCK BECKER'S debut as a Cracker was auspicious. The big fellow looks like a real pitcher, and his acquisition to the staff has apparently given it a man that can be depended on to win the majority of the games he works in. Becker is a big fellow over 6 feet tall, with supreme confidence in his own ability and absolute disregard for the ravings of any of the coachers.

Great Break.

BECKER has a break that he has nicknamed the "merry widow." This curve is a wonderful left-handed outdrop. The first time he used it in the game Thursday morning he even fooled the umpire. The ball started outside the right-hand corner of the plate, and when Graham caught it it was near the ground on the left-hand corner. Add to this wonderful curve, good speed, average control, a fine head and a slow ball that works excellently, Becker ought to take the front rank among the left-handers of this league this season.

Stopped Streak.

THE DODGERS stopped the winning streak of the Giants in their game yesterday morning. Brennan outpitched Mathewson, and the Dodgers won, 10 to 4. The Giants had won sixteen straight up until that time.

Looking Good.

LAVENDER, the Georgia boy who is pitching this year for the Chicago Cubs, is the pitching find of the National League season this year. In his last two starts, in which he worked twenty-one innings, he has allowed but six hits and no runs. Te pitched two shut-out games against the Pittsburg Pirates, holding them to one hit in nine innings and to five hits in twelve. He and Cheney have been the winning pitchers of the Cubs this season.

Made George.

WHEN GAINOR, the first baseman of the Detroit Tigers, was hurt, Jennings was in a quandry what to do. He placed George Moriarity on the sack, and the big all-around player of the Tigers has played a better game at the initial cushion than any place he has yet tackled. Incidentally he has been stinging the ball a mile, too.

Will Not Down.

THE RUMORS that Hal Chase is going to be sold or traded by the New York team will not down. Every now and then a story springs up in one of the New York papers that he is about to be sold to this or that club, and so persistent are the reports that it sems more than certain that the big first-sacker will eventually sever his connection with the Yankees.

Fielding Great.

ED KONEY, the Cardinal's big first baseman, has been fielding the first sack for Bresnahan's crew like a world-beater of late. In forty-four games Big Ed has handled 481 chances at the bag without making a single miscue. Some nifty going—what?

Crackers Win in Morning Drop the Afternoon Game; Big Crowd in Attendance

By Dick Jemison.

The Crackers won the morning game from the Billikens 9 to 3, while they dropped the afternoon battle 5 to 3. In each game the superior pitching of the winning pitchers told the tale.

About 3,000 fans witnessed the morning encounter, while, according to the box office receipts there were a trifle over 7,200 paid admission at the afternoon affair. The crowd started coming in the afternoon an hour before game time and there was an overflow.

A cushion fight in the ninth inning threatened for a while to assume such proportions that the umpires would be forced to forfeit the game to the Billikens, but it subsided after a bit.

Great fielding marked the work of both teams in both the games and it was due to their fine work that the score was kept as small as it was.

Morning Game.

The Crackers copped the morning game easily by pounding the curves of Pitcher Bonner to all corners of the lot collecting twelve bingles and nine runs off of his delivery. The Billikens never had a look in.

Buck Becker, the huge left-hander recently purchased from the Washington Americans, made his debut as a Cracker hurler and Buck had everything. His speed was great, his curves beautiful to watch and his control mighty near perfect.

In the last three innings, with the game safely tucked away on ice, he let down a little, the Billikens getting five of their seven hits and two of their three runs in these chapters.

Becker looks like a pitcher, acts like a pitcher, and according to everything that we can see, he is a pitcher from the tip of his toes to the top of his head. He is cool, collected, calculating and works splendidly under fire. Besides he appears to be a good fielding twirler, for all of his weight.

An Alperman Day.

The game was strictly an Alperman affair. Whitey had a grand day of it in spots and a hard time of it in others. He was hit twice by the pitcher, nearly knocked down by a liner, stepped on when stealing and generally mauled up by the vicious Billikens, but with it all he got three bingles, scored two runs, accepted eight chances and swiped a couple of bases.

Joe Agler showed the fine eye that he has by working Bonner for four of the seven passes he issued, getting a hit the other time up. Bailey got the other three free tickets that Bonner dished out, hit safe once and made a sacrifice.

Humpty McElveen played all over the infield during the game, getting five putouts and five assists.

In addition to being hit hard, Bonner contributed every known thing to the box score he could make. He made a wild pitch, hit three batters, walked seven, fanned a couple and made a balk. That is the umpire called it a balk. It was all right, btu we were taken by surprise at a Southern League umpire calling a balk.

Score in First.

The Crackers started scoring in the first inning. Callahan went out, but Alperman singled and went to second on a balk. Bailey singled to right, scoring Whitey and taking second himself on Gribbens' errors. He advanced to third on Hemphill's infield out and counted when McElveen shoved a high fly to left center, which dropped safe and netted Mack two sacks.

Stengle worked Becker for free transportation in the fourth, went to second on his wild pitch and counted on his error, when Wares sacrificed.

In their half the Crackers counted another. Alperman was hit by Bonner with two gone. He attempted to steal and when Wares dropped the ball was safe. Bailey walked and Hemphill singled, scoring Whitey.

Then came the large inning, the fifth, when the Crackers made five hits and five runs, believing in fives. Harbison started it with a double to left. Agler walked. Graham flew out, but Becker drove a single to right, scoring Harbison, Agler taking third on the throw to the plate and Becker second. Callahan drove a double down the right field line and both men counted. Dave stole third and counted when McAllister threw the ball away. Whitey singled again, but was caught stealing. Bailey drew a free ticket and stole and counted on Hemphill's hit.

In the seventh they made one more. Callahan singled and stole and went to third when Wares let the throw get through him. Alperman was hit and stole. Bailey hit a sacrifice fly to right, on which Callahan counted.

The Billies made one in the eighth. Gribbens beat out a hit to short and went to second when Harbison threw the ball away. Bonner singled and scored him.

In the ninth, Wares doubled and counted on Sykes' single.

Afternoon Game.

Piggy Paige had all the better of Tommie Atkins in the afternoon battle. He stood his former teammates on their heads trying to hit at his elusive curves and when he seemed to falter the least bit, they would pull him out of the hole with a fine bit of fielding.

A great one-handed stop by Agler of the Crackers, one almost similar to it by Sykes of the Billikens, a long running shoestring catch by Dave Callahan in deep left field and a pretty double play by each of the clubs were the fielding features.

Stengle, the Montgomery centerfielder, carried off the batting honors in the second fray with three in five times at the plate, with Bills and Gribbens pushing him closely with two each.

The crowd was good-natured throughout the entire game and kidded the players of both teams, while some bugs shot off firecrackers in the outfield.

Billies Score First.

Stengle greeted Atkins with a three bagger to left in the first inning. He counted on Ware's long sacrifice fly to left.

In the second inning, with one gone, Bills stole second. On Donahue's wild throw to second, he went to third and when McElveen let Hemphill's throw get by, he counted.

The Crackers sent home a run in the fourth. Bailey slammed a triple against the right field fence and counted on Hemphill's sacrifice fly out to right.

The Billies added two more in the sixth. With one gone, Elberfield doubled into the crowd on the left field foul line. Elwert scored him with a triple over Bailey's head and he scored himself a moment later on Sykes' sacrifice fly to Hemphill.

The Crackers got two in the eighth. With two gone, Bailey walked. Hemphill beat out a hit to first, Bailey taking third. Hemphill stole second and both scored on McElveen's double to center.

The Billies added one in the ninth. Sykes walked, went to third on Gribbens' single and counted on Paige's single.

Ferns Draws.

Bartlesville, Okla., July 4.—Clarence (Kid) Ferns, of Kansas City, and Art Magirt, of Bartlesville, went fifteen fast rounds to a draw this afternoon at Dewey, Okla., without the anticipated interference on the part of the state authorities. Captain Arthur, of the Oklahoma national guard, was at the ringside with a detachment of militia to end the bout if it went from boxing to prize fighting. In his opinion the line was not crossed, hence he did not interfere. Ferns was the aggressor the greater part of the bout; he was twice floored by Magirt. Neither man was severely injured.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 4.—Chattanooga won both games from New Orleans today, the score in the morning game being 5 to 2, play being stopped at the end of the fifth inning on account of rain. Bunched hits off Griffin gave the locals four runs and victory in the afternoon game. Fast infielding by Knaupp, Bunting and Clancy kept the score down, together with Spencer's throwing to the plate. Moran saved a New Orleans run with a great throw to third, while Noyes made a sensational catch and stop in center. Moran's four hits featured the batting.

It is considered remarkable time, in view of the fact that Garrett had trained only for a few days, and had never engaged in a long distance race before.

Elsie Hancock, of Sylvester, finished 7 minutes behind Garrett. Mayor A. H. Hinson, of Sylvester, was one of those who finished the trip, though most of the score of starters fell out before covering more than half the distance. More Honors For America At Stockholm

Stockholm, July 4.—The United States added to her victories in the Olympics today. J. R. Graham, Chicago A. A., won the gold medal in the individual competition at clay birds, with an aggregate score of 95 out of a possible 100. Captain F. M. Hird, of Iowa, captured the gold medal in the individual competition for miniature rifle shooting.

A celebration in honor of the Fourth of July took place aboard the steamer Finland, the quarters of the American athletes. More than 3,000 persons crowded the ship. In the main saloon Colonel Robert M. Thompson, president of the New York Athletic Club; James E. Sullivan, American commissioner to the Olympic games; Admiral and Mrs. Wainwright, Mr. and Mrs. Julian W. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Eberhard Faber and G. T. Kirby received the visitors.

Those who attended the reception included the three American members of the Olympic committee, Professor W. M. Sloane, Allison V. Armour and Everett J. Wendell; the American minister, Charles H. Graves; the American consul general, Ernest L. Harris; the English members of the Olympic committee, many prominent Swedes and the athletes representing various nations. The majority of the guests wore small American flags.

Thompson Given Cup.

After dinner the American team presented Colonel Thompson with a silver cup. The oldest member of the team, George V. Bonbag, of the Irish-American Athletic Club, acted as spokesman. Colonel Thompson, Mr. Graves, John Lind, ex-governor of Minnesota; Captain T. G. Barman, of the Finland, and Mr. Kirby, who is president of the A. A. U., spoke. All joined in singing "America."

The Olympic committee held a session at the Riksdag this morning and the president of the committee, Baron Pierre de Couberby, presented Crown Prince Gustave Adolph with the Olympic gold medal, thanking him for the interest he has displayed in the games. The council unanimously decided that the next Olympics should be held in Berlin in 1916.

The Swedish committee today rearranged the drawings for the trials. The committee decided this was in accordance with the arrangements made at last year's meeting of the committee, which the Stockholm committee had overlooked when the first drawings were made. The Americans would have been the principal sufferers. It also was decided to place twelve competitors in each heat of the 800-meter trials, thus avoiding semi-finals which would impose too great a strain on the runners.

England Wins Football.

England defeated Denmark this evening in the football contest, four goals to two. The final game was played in the long northern twilight before an immense crowd which nearly filled the stadium. The king and other members of the royal family occupied a box, and his majesty presented the medals to the winners.

It is reported that the correspondent here of a leading London paper wrote that the Americans had made themselves unpopular by boasting. Whatever the sentiment of their rivals toward them may be—and thus far the relations between all the teams have been harmonious and cordial—the Americans undoubtedly hold first place in the affections of the Swedish people. More American flags are displayed than of any other nationality. The newspapers and people show in every possible way the warmest regard for Americans and declare that next to Swedish, American victories would be most popular.

Twenty-six Points for America.

The committee has decided that points shall be counted three, two and one for first, second and third respectively, instead of five, three and one as previously arranged. The scoring to date gives United States a total of 26 points, England and Sweden each 25 points.

The condition of the athletes continues remarkably good. The only accident so far has been suffered by Simon P. Gillis, N. Y. A. C., who is entered for the hammer throw, but he probably will be able to compete. All the men worked hard today. The Marathon runners will do their first trial over the whole course tomorrow. The American riders, who are the guests of Swedish officers, are receiving marked hospitality.

Americus Wins Two.

Americus, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—Before the greatest audience ever assembled at Dudley park, Americus defeated Cordele in both the holiday games, morning and afternoon, by decisive scores. Cordele sent a throng here while every town in a radius of thirty miles was represented. Baker and Hooks for Americus with Chewning and Hudson for Cordele, constituted the batteries. The morning score resulted 4 to 1 in favor of Americus. The feature of the morning game was Baker's splendid pitching.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Cordele	100 000 000—1	6	3
Americus	100 001 20x—4	11	1

In the afternoon game the interesting features were the sensational stop of a liner by McLendon for Americus and a high catch by Pope in same play. Wilder, the phenomenal college pitcher, was in the box for Americus and sustained himself well. Ostrum and Hudson constituting Cordele's battery. The score was 10 to 5 in favor of Americus.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Cordele	300 000 200—5	6	3

O'Keefe Given Decision Over Frankie Whitney; Should Have Been Draw

By Dick Jemison.

Tommie O'Keefe, of Philadelphia, was given the decision over Frank Whitney, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in the 10-round main bout at the Gate City Athletic Club's stag held in Harry Staten's old hall last night.

Where Referee Brownfield got the license to give O'Keefe a decision we cannot see. It was just about as good a draw as one would care to see. Half of the blows that the crowd yelled about never landed, and nine-tenths of the blows started by each fighter during the battle landed on an arm, a glove or some protecting part and not where they counted. The damage done was even.

O'Keefe managed to fool even the referee by his rushing tactics, making a big show that drew down the decision for him. But if the decision was to be awarded on points each had enough to even up the entire count.

Two rounds were O'Keefe's, two rounds Whitney's, and the rest of them even was all that any one can make out of the bout. O'Keefe drew a little blood, but so did Whitney, though Whitney showed his the most through the battle, and maybe this persuaded the referee to give him the battle.

Whitney did most of his damage with left-hand jabs and right uppercuts, while O'Keefe used right and left swings and uppercuts, but, as mentioned before, they missed more than they landed.

But, even though the decision was poor, the bout was a good one. The boys fought hard head and head, with much clinching made necessary by their wilingness when in the clinches trying to hit and their evenness in this style of boxing.

Atlanta tennis players are sure to win the southern tennis title in the singles and the doubles. The tournament after Thursday's play took that turn and when the matches are concluded on Saturday the local club will keep the cups here.

Carleton Y. Smith disposed of Nat Thornton in their match, and B. M. Grant was defeated by E. V. Carter, Jr., in theirs. While these two players were considered as having a fine show to win, the two men who were defeated were the ruling favorites and the dope received a rude upset.

Smith and Carter meet in the lower frame in the semi-finals, while Charest and Porter meet in the upper, the winners to meet in the finals Saturday. These matches will be played this afternoon.

Singles This Afternoon.

The Charest-Scott match is scheduled for 3:30 o'clock with Carter and Smith meeting at 5 o'clock. The first named match should be mighty interesting as both players are left-handed.

Mrs. J. S. Taylor, of Atlanta, having gone through the ladies' singles will meet Miss Murphy, the title-holder in the challenge round. This will probably be scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

The finals in the men's singles will be played Saturday morning, with the finals in the men's doubles, and the challenge round in the ladies' singles in the afternoon. The mixed doubles' finals will be played this afternoon.

Grant and Carter, of Atlanta, and Smith and Thornton, also of Atlanta, have survived the play in the men's doubles and will meet in the finals Saturday afternoon.

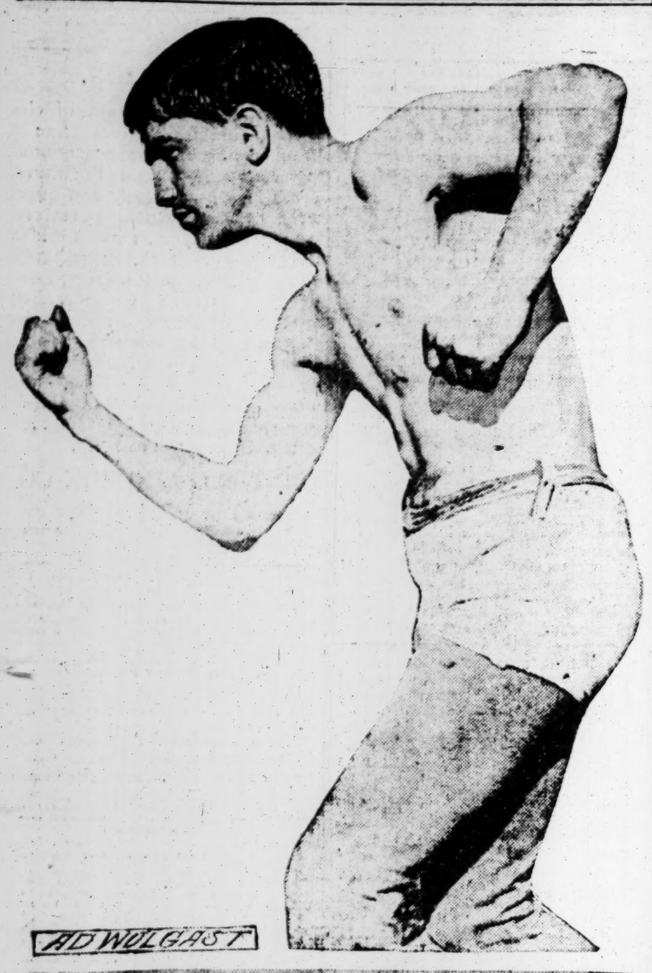
FOULS BUT GETS DECISION



The champion lightweight keeps his title through bad refereeing. Welch gave Rivers the worst of the argument, according to the story from the ring-side. Wolgast deliberately fouled Rivers, knocking him cold, but the little Mexican knocked Wolgast out simultaneously. A draw or a decision in Rivers' favor were the only decisions Welch could give. And the timekeeper says bell had rung.

Ad Wolgast Fouls Rivers And Is Then Knocked Out; Referee Gives Champ Fight

Los Angeles, July 4.—For twelve rounds Ad Wolgast and Joe Rivers fought like catamounts in their lightweight championship bout at Vernon arena this afternoon. In the thirteenth there came a blow which landed low and both boys in an instant were sprawling and writhing upon the floor.

Wolgast was declared the winner by Referee Jack Welch. Then bedlam broke loose. There was a demonstration lasting more than half an hour by 11,000 excited spectators, but it was handled throughout by no less than one hundred policemen, without violence of any sort.

Tonight Referee Welch stands disputed by Rivers and by thousands of spectators in his decision that Wolgast won by a knockout. The Mexican fighter claimed a foul and in his dressing rooms he displayed a dented aluminum protector to prove his claim.

Wolgast said he also was fouled but tonight, in a conference with Promoter Tom McCarey, of the Pacific Athletic Club, Tom Jones, his manager, said he did not believe the foul inflicted upon the champion was intentional. Jones said Wolgast stumbled over the feet of Rivers as the latter lay prostrate and fell upon his adversary's knee. Wolgast fainted and was carried to his dressing room.

Wolgast Jeered.

When Ad Wolgast was taken out the spectators jeered him while they struggled in frantic efforts to get into the ring, where Referee Welch stood for a moment in hot altercation with the angered manager and seconds of Rivers.

Welch left the ring after reasserting that Rivers' claim of foul was unfounded; that he had counted ten seconds on Rivers, and that the gong ending the round did not intervene before he had completed the count.

McCarey maintained silence. So did Jones. But Joe Levy, the manager of Rivers, repeated his offer made in the ring to let the men fight it out at once.

The end came suddenly. Both boys, gory from head to belt, their faces puffed and cut, were fighting near the ropes, when Rivers suddenly collapsed. Wolgast previously in the same round, and in several other rounds, had struck Rivers rather low and when Rivers went down there was a sudden shout of "foul."

In an instant, Wolgast was down on top of Rivers, groaning. Wolgast rolled off Rivers' body, his features convulsed. Welch immediately began counting, and was still counting when he reached down and helped Wolgast to his feet. There were shouts that the bell had ended the round, while Welch was counting. The arena by this time was in an uproar.

Gong Had Rung.

Al Holder, timekeeper, of the Pacific Athletic Club, shouted that he had rung the gong.

At this point Rivers, his face, contorted with pain, scrambled weakly to his feet and squared away, ready to renew the battle. Welch waved him back.

"That's an outrage, and it won't go here," those angry men who had clambered through the ropes, exclaimed to Welch.

"It will have to go," the referee replied. "It was fair," and slipped out of the arena.

Welch said tonight: "Wolgast was clearly the winner. Just before Rivers went down Wolgast had landed a heavy left to the body below the pit of the stomach, and followed it with another smash with the right almost to the same place. Neither blow was low. I did not see what happened to Wolgast.

"Rivers did seem as if he had been fouled, but the pictures will show that I was right and that there was not a foul blow struck."

Bets Not Off

Welch added that he did not believe the bets off although a statement to that effect was shouted from the ring, while the confusion was at its height.

Betting commissioners stated that payment of bets would be according to the decision of the referee. Many contradicted the statement of Tom Jones that Wolgast had stumbled over Rivers' feet. Rivers said Wolgast went down under the terrific blow to the jaw, and in this he was backed up by several ringside seat holders, although Welch declared no such blow was struck.

The gate receipts for the fight were $41,465.

Round 1—Rivers led the fighting and they clinched. Rivers landed three lefts to the face in quick succession and Wolgast covered. Rivers was much faster and his blocking was better than that of the champion. In a clinch Rivers sent in three swift rights, jarring Wolgast. It was Rivers' round.

Round 2—Rivers opened a deep gash in Wolgast's neck. The blood spurted in a stream. Rivers pecked Wolgast ten times without a return and then put stiff left to the stomach. Rivers put a stiff right to Wolgast's nose, starting a new flow of blood. Wolgast fell short while Rivers never missed once. Rivers' round.

Round 3—Wolgast took a stiff left to stomach and head. The fighters exchanged fearful rights and lefts. Wolgast missed a right swing and Rivers put in another left to the wind. They fought like tigers. Wolgast went to a clinch and covered. Both were covered with blood. In a clinch Rivers opened the wound in Wolgast's neck. Round even.

Drove Back Wolgast's Head.

Round 4—They clinched and Rivers sent Wolgast's head back with a right. Wolgast clinched, but could not land at close work. Again Rivers rocked Wolgast but the champion bored in. Wolgast found much difficulty in hitting Rivers. Wolgast was wild. Again he missed and the Mexican put in left and right to wind. It was Rivers' round.

Round 5—They went into a clinch and both held on. Wolgast put light left to jaw and missed a right. In a neutral corner Rivers put left and right to wind and received but a light right to jaw. Then they stood in the middle of the ring, looking at each other. They clinched and Rivers nearly upset Wolgast with a right to jaw. Round even.

Round 6—They clinched. Wolgast missed and was nearly upset again. Then Rivers put a stiff left to wind. Another right to the jaw rocked Wolgast but he bored in. His judgment of distance was poor. In a clinch Rivers put right to jaw and Wolgast went down. He was up in an instant and they fought like tigers, head to head. It was Rivers' round, by a big lead.

Both Were Cautious.

Round 7—Both were cautious. In a clinch Rivers backed the champion to the ropes. Wolgast then sent in left and right to the wind, Rivers covering. In the break both landed light lefts, Rivers then jarred Wolgast and the champion was wild, hitting low. Both seemed tired and clinched. Wolgast again hit low. It was Rivers' round.

Round 8—Wolgast tried with right and left and missed both. Wolgast suddenly rushed and put lefts and rights to the wind, chasing Rivers around the ring. Both seemed content to do it at long range. Both were very tired and slowed down considerably. The round was slightly Wolgast's.

Round 9—After a clinch Rivers got in light left to the stomach. Wolgast began to crouch to protect his stomach. Rivers seemed to be resting as he kept away. It was the tamest round of the fight. Wolgast rushed suddenly and put a stiff left to stomach, making Rivers wince. Wolgast round by a shade.

Rivers Kept Away.

Round 10—Wolgast rushed and Rivers blocked, making the champion miss a left. Rivers kept away, poking Wolgast and stepping back. In a clinch Wolgast made Rivers cover with swings to the jaw. Rivers suddenly jumped in and put a hard right over Wolgast's kidneys and clinched, taking nothing in return. Head to head they exchanged fearful body smashes and were clinched at the bell. Wolgast's round by a shade.

Round 11—Wolgast missed left to wind and Rivers hit him three times without a return. Rivers put a hard left to jaw. Both clinched and they rolled around the ring. Rivers seemed to force the fighting. Wolgast could not hit him hard and clinched. Rivers then stood still and took four or five hard lefts and rights to the jaw, but never winced. He then sent in a hard left, staggering the champion. Wolgast's smile had disappeared. Wolgast seemed very tired. Round even.

Round 12—Wolgast sent in a right to the wind, rushing Rivers to the ropes. Wolgast then tried hard to land on the wind, but could not get through Rivers' blocking. Time and again the champion missed, Rivers attempting to follow up his advantage. Both rushed and head to head it was a clinch at the end. Rivers had the better of the mixing. Rivers' round.

The Final Round.

Round 13—Rivers rushed. They clinched, both holding on. Wolgast nearly went over from a right to the jaw but bored right in, putting left to the wind. "Take your time, Joe," shouted Manager Levy to Rivers, "you got him." Twice Wolgast missed, Rivers putting in lefts to the face. Wolgast was getting wilder than ever but Rivers kept away.

Both boys were fighting head to head. Wolgast suddenly crouched and sent in a terrific left directly over Rivers' groin. At the same instant Rivers put his right to Wolgast's jaw and the champion went down and was practically out. Rivers fell, writhing in pain, and Referee Welch began to count. Claims of foul were made in behalf of Rivers. The claims in behalf of Rivers were not heeded by Welch. The referee picked Wolgast up from the floor and decided him the winner. His seconds had to carry him from the ring. Rivers was lying on the floor but in a moment arose, unaided. The ring was constantly in a semi-riot. Welch, seeing the crowd coming, announced that Wolgast was the winner and immediately disappeared.

Robbery Alleged.

"It was the worst case of robbery in the history of the American ring," said Mr. Levy. "Never before have I seen a referee pick up a man and then give him the decision. The foul blow struck by Wolgast was seen by every man near the ringside. It was the fourth or fifth foul the champion had landed on Rivers. The sum total of it all is that Wolgast knew he was whipped and resorted to his foul tactics to save himself."

No one concerned with Wolgast's camp would say a word and all of them jumped into an automobile and left the pavilion.

Jack Johnson Toys With Jim Flynn; Police Stop Fight in the Ninth Round; Jim Flynn Adopted Butting Tactics

East Las Vegas, N. M., July 4.—The Jack Johnson-Jim Flynn 45-round fight for the heavyweight championship was brought to a close in the ninth round today by the state police.

Captain Fernoff, of the state force, personal representative at the ringside of Governor McDonald, declared that it was no longer a boxing contest; that it was a brutal exhibition, and that Flynn's foul tactics made its continuance impossible. He jumped into the ring with his deputies and drove the fighters and officials who followed him to the corners. Referee Ed W. Smith then announced that Johnson had won, and the fight was over.

Flynn displayed no ability throughout the fight. He was cut about the face until blood ran down his breast in a stream. He was utterly helpless from the first round on, and by the sixth was deliberately trying to butt the champion's chin with his head. Time after time as Johnson held him powerless in the clinches, Flynn jerked his head upward.

Smith warned him repeatedly, but it did no good. In the seventh he began leaping upward every time he could work his head under Johnson's chin. Flynn's feet were both off the floor time and again. Sometimes he seemed to leap 2 feet into the air in frantic plunges at the elusive jaw above him.

Referee Warns Flynn.

Referee Smith forced Flynn back toward his corner a half dozen times. "Stop that butting," he would say, shaking his finger in Flynn's face, "or I will disqualify you."

"The — — — nigger is holding me," Flynn roared; "he's holding me all the time like this," and he offered to illustrate on the referee. Smith evaded the blood-smeared arms held toward him and waved the two men together again.

In the next clinch—it was in the eighth round—Flynn flung his head upward again. Smith jumped between them and warned him once more.

"Next time you do it I'll disqualify you," he shouted, but changed his mind. It happened again and again in that round and repeatedly in the ninth before the police took a hand.

Through it all the champion was smiling. He evaded Flynn's attacks with the utmost ease, whether the Pueblo man led with his hands or his head. Only once in the nine rounds did he show any wish to end the fight, and yet opinion was unanimous that he could have put Flynn out at any time he fancied.

Opened Up Once.

The champion opened up only once early in the fight when Flynn landed his only good blows, right and left hooks to the jaw, delivered during a clinch. Johnson appeared nettled at his own carelessness, and smashed a right uppercut through Flynn's guard which rocked the white man's head.

Apparently Johnson did not attempt to hit hard. He contented himself with a slow, scientific chopping, every blow finding its way through the barricade of gloves and elbows behind which Flynn crouched. It was an exhibition of guarding and hitting in the clinches, as far as the champion was concerned.

Not a blow of Flynn's reached Johnson with any force behind it. Flynn's blows were tossed aside unless Johnson chose to allow him to batter away at his stomach, Johnson smiling the while over Flynn's shoulder. When the fight was over there was not a mark on Johnson beyond a cut inside his lower lip, which bled slightly for a few minutes.

Johnson Collects Bets.

Immediately after the fight Johnson hastened to the betting counter to collect his wagers on himself. He drove there from the ringside, and was forced to address the crowd in the big room before he could leave for his camp.

Flynn was rushed to his camp from the arena. He was not hurt except for the cuts and bruises on his face. He had nothing to say.

The fight was utterly lacking in interest. It was like a training bout at Johnson's camp. There was not a cheer during the fight, and the crowd accepted the referee's action with apparent relief. It was the general opinion at the ringside that Flynn was eager to be disqualified.

The Fight by Rounds.

The ring was cleared at 2:38 with Announcer Conner making his final remarks referring to the rules governing the contest. After the men had listened to these rules time was called at 2:49.

Round 1—"Will you shake hands, Jack?" queried Flynn as he opened the battle by rushing in and clinched. "No," retorted the black.

Flynn kept in close, but Johnson easily avoided his attempts and flung a stiff left to the ear. The champion pushed his man across the ring and hooked his left to the ear and a moment later flung a hard short-arm jolt to the jaw. Johnson smiled constantly and fought with great care. Flynn backed the negro against the ropes, and the champion rewarded with a right that cut a deep gash under his left eye. Round all Johnson's.

Round 2—As Flynn rushed Johnson simply grasped him about the shoulders and held him at bay, all the while grinning like an ape. The champion pecked at the fireman's face with light lefts, and as they clinched upper-cut twice heavily with rights to the jaw. Johnson toyed with Flynn, twice more shooting right uppercuts to the jaw, one of which sent the fireman's head bobbing. Flynn's mouth bled as he took his seat very much worsted during the three minutes of fighting in this round.

Round 3—Flynn cut short a remark of Johnson by twice hooking his right to the jaw. This nettled the black, and he cut loose with short-arm uppercuts to the jaw. Johnson bled slightly from the mouth as he emerged from a mid-ring mixup, but Flynn spat blood in a stream as the champion cut his mouth with a volley of rights and lefts.

Round 4—Flynn rushed in close, and was met with the customary rain of right and left uppercuts to the face. At that it seemed as if Johnson was holding himself in check. He shook Flynn with a few stomach taps, scarcely trying to protect his body from Flynn's attacks. Johnson constantly shoved his stomach and invited him to blaze away, which convulsed the spectators. Flynn elicited a great cheer when he rushed Johnson to the ropes and planted a solid left to the jaw. The round ended with lynn's face covered with blood. Johnson's round.

Johnson Hardly Noticed Flynn.

Round 5—Johnson turned his head to the spectators and hardly noticed his white antagonist. Flynn banged away at the stomach, but this time Johnson covered up and shot four lefts to the face in quick succession, varying it with a left uppercut to the jaw. Flynn, at close range, sent half a dozen punches on the stomach, but Johnson only smiled and again made no apparent attempt to protect his mid-section. Johnson aroused the crowd to merriment by releasing Flynn's hold and clapping his own gloves together like a happy school girl. "I can't fight while he is holding me," shouted Flynn, protesting to the referee. The round ended then, with Johnson holding a running conversation with his wife and seconds.

Round 6—Flynn butted with his head three times and complained that Johnson made it justifiable by holding him. Flynn was severely reprimanded for deliberately butting the champion. Flynn tried to find a loophole to stem the beating given him. Johnson dazed the fireman with his speed, landing left and right to the jaw. "He's holding me," was Flynn's cry. Johnson, maddened, landed a volley of straight left and right punches to the face, fairly bewildering Flynn, then he stopped himself, apparently with a view to prolonging the contest. Flynn's seconds also warned him to cease butting, when he sat down.

Round 7—Johnson landed fully a dozen rapid-fire right and lefts to the fireman's face, and at the same time placed himself in a position to withstand Flynn's butting tactics. "Wait a minute," cried Johnson to a spectator who had shouted for him to end it. Flynn bled profusely from the nose as Johnson beat a tattoo with right and lefts to that organ. Flynn failed to land a glove on the champion, the black's defense proving impregnable.

Johnson made the blood fairly spurt as he rained blow after blow on his bewildered opponent. There was not a drop of blood on Johnson as he took his seat.

Round 8—Flynn again tried to butt and was thrice warned. This round looked like its predecessors. Flynn was helpless in the champion's hands, and for the tenth time in this round was warned by the referee, he adding: "One more and I'll disqualify you." Johnson held the fireman at arm's length.

The End of Fight.

Round 9—Johnson held the fireman at arm's length in an attempt to guard himself against the fireman's constant butting. Flynn finally got in close, jumped a foot and landed with the top of his head at Johnson's jaw. Chief of Police Cowles, realizing that the referee seemed loath to end the contest on a foul jumped into the ring and brought the battle to an end. Referee Smith thereupon gave the decision to Johnson. Johnson was given a terrific cheer, while the crowd wended its way out.

NEW COMMISSION RULING IS MADE

Cincinnati, July 4.—The national baseball commission today announced the following notice to all national agreement clubs:

"To establish uniformity in action by clubs when a player, released by a major league club to a minor league club and by a minor league club to a major league club, refuses to report to and contract with the club to which he is transferred, the commission directs that club to protect both parties to the deal from responsibility for his salary during his insubordination by promptly suspending him.

"Payment, in part or in whole, of the consideration for the release of such player will not be enforced until he is reinstated and actually enters the service of the purchasing club."

ABOUT CHICKENS

BY "YOUR UNCLE DUDLEY"

Address: "Your Uncle Dudley," Care The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

To insure prompt answer to your inquiries to this department, write only on one side of the paper and BE BRIEF—the briefer the better. Increasing demands upon the department make it practically impossible to handle long letters.

GUINEAS WILL THRIVE IN THE SUMMER MONTHS

F. F. Breithaup, Pine Apple, Ala.—Dear Uncle Dudley: Please tell me the best way to raise young guineas. What kind of feed do they need and what kind of range? I will be pleased to have any other information that you can give. I thank you in advance. I like The Constitution very much, and think there is no paper like it.

Answer—I was just about to write an article that will answer the foregoing letter—I am glad, therefore, that this inquiry came to me.

July is the very best month in which to raise guineas. If everybody would raise ducks and guineas only in the summer, and chickens in the winter, the south would be richer by many thousands of dollars annually.

It is always better to use hens to hatch, and mother guineas. Guinea hens are splendid incubators, but very careless brooders. If proper care is taken with the hen better results can be obtained than in any other way. Guinea eggs are generally fertile, if obtained from birds that have free range and are properly mated—one male to about five to eight hens. Eight, however, is the limit, for fewer hens would be better. Every egg would then produce a chick. A medium-sized hen, in good condition, should be given fifteen eggs; a large fat hen will cover and hatch 18 to 20 eggs.

Put Nest on the Ground.

The nest should be on the ground, in a quiet place, where the other hens could not annoy her. There should be a little fine excelsior or fine cut straw used for nesting.

This should be sprayed with a disinfectant like chloro-naptholeum or dampened smoking tobacco sprinkled over the eggs and straw to keep the lice and mites away. They will hatch in 28 days.

Just before the time for the eggs to hatch the nest should be enclosed so that the little chicks cannot get away from the hen. They should be kept confined until they learn the cluck of the hen, or they will scatter and run off, and continue to run until they die from exhaustion. They should be kept on the ground, and not fed at all for about thirty-six hours after the hatch.

I have never found anything better than small seeds to feed them with until they are strong enough to follow the hen. Small seed of any kind will answer. If you live on a farm and have a vegetable garden, you will be sure to have at this season vegetable and grass seeds in abundance. Any of these small seeds (and it will not require any large amount of them) will serve to feed them until they can be put out where they can get bugs, worms and grass.

Keep them confined with the hen until they are strong enough to follow her. They should then be allowed to run on a grassy lawn or in the garden, the hen being kept in a coop. They should be given water, but it should be arranged so that they cannot get into it and get wet.

Natural Food of the Guinea.

The natural food of the guinea is small grain and seeds; and then bugs, worms, slugs and the like. They are not subject to the summer diseases—sorehead, white diarrhoea or liver complaints. The hen should be dusted well with a good insect powder, and her breast and the under part of her wings should be greased. Lard as vaseline is best for this purpose.

Little guineas are like little turkeys, almost helpless until they are 10 to 15 days old. If carefully fed and cared for until they reach this age, and are then kept up in the morning until the sun dries the dew on the grass, they will astonish you by their rapid growth and activity.

I think that a flock of half-grown guineas running over a field gathering their daily food of grass seeds, insects and grass is as beautiful a sight as anyone ever saw on a farm. Guineas on a farm will gather from the woods and fields nearly all the food that they require. They can be put on the market in November and December, when small chickens are scarce and high in price, and sold for cash, and that is as nearly all profit as anything that a farm is capable of producing.

They are practically self-supporting on many farms. They destroy the insects that injure all plants. No estimate can be correctly made of the amount of money that a flock of guineas will save a farmer in a year by destroying insects that destroy vegetation.

Cut out breeding chickens in the hot summer months. Turn your attention to guineas and ducks. Do not attempt to force nature or change natural laws for your accommodation. Fruit, in its season, is a fixed law. Chickens can only be raised naturally in cold weather; guineas and ducks only in warm weather.

On the Wrong Track.

Mark Pope, Thomasville, Ala.—Dear Uncle Dudley: I am coming to you for help. I started this year with thirty hens and five roosters (mongrels), which I picked up wherever I could find one for sale, or when nobody was looking. I certainly had a variety. My yard resembled a piece of calico. Three of my roosters have crossed over; also several hens. Buffalo gnats have been very troublesome in this section up until recently. We got on an average of one egg every other day. A few hens went to setting, and we managed to buy, borrow and beg enough eggs to set them. They hatched off a nice drove of chicks, and at this writing we have two pet roosters about the size of partridges to reward us for all our trouble, but they seem to feel and realize their importance. But now we are in a dilemma. A short time ago we discovered lice on them. We dipped them in a solution of kerosene oil and water, which killed several chickens, but it got the lice. Did I use too much kerosene? Or is it not good to put on fowls? Will some of the readers from Florida please write me, giving a description of the community in which they live. Will appreciate all letters and return favor in any way I can. Long live Uncle Dudley.

Answer—In the first place you started with a job-lot of scrubs. Second, you commenced to breed chickens at the wrong season of the year. Third, you failed to watch out for the first appearance of lice and mites. Fourth, you applied the wrong remedy for lice.

First, use thorougbred poultry. Would you expect a scrub cow to equal a Jersey, in cream and butter?

Second, September to April and not May to August are the proper months in which to breed poultry in the south. Third, winter is the time to fight lice and mites; never wait until they have you at their mercy. Fourth, kerosene oil, used as a dip, will surely kill the hens and the lice.

Now, get the standard-bred fowls. Never attempt to breed chickens in hot weather. Paint houses and nests inside and outside with coal-tar and creosote in the winter. Use chloro-naptholeum as a dip. I have been told that a liberal use of lime will eliminate the Buffalo gnats.

Commence right; keep your entire premises clean. "Watch the flock," and you will find that it will pay to do as as suggested by Ruptured Crop.

Mary Epting, Little Mountain, S. C., Route 1.—Dear Uncle Dudley: I am a girl of 13, and am very fond of pet chickens. Some time ago we had a hen to steal her nest in the cellar and hatch six little chickens, but she would not have them, so I took them to pet. Two of them died and out of the four that are living one of them had a swollen craw which stayed that way for about two days, then it went down and went nearly away. I did not bother with it as I thought something had stung it, and now for about four days it is swelled up again. Its crop and on the back where its wings start out and up almost to the top of its head, it seems as if there is wind. Let me hear from you at once as I am afraid it will not live without help.

Answer—Your little chick has ruptured the inner tissue or skin of the crop. Sometimes this heals up and the chick gets well, but more frequently it spreads and the chick dies. I know of no cure for it. Bettew kill and burn it.

Duck Was Poisoned.

Mrs. Addie Green, Greenville, S. C.—Dear Uncle Dudley: I am trying to raise Indian Runner ducks. They will soon be three months old. They are hardy and healthy as they can be. I feed them on bread and corn dough. Yesterday after feeding them in their coop they followed me back to the yard. One began to stagger and seemed to be blind. It would run up against anything, and in a few minutes died. What could have been the matter with it. There wasn't anything the matter with it when it left the coop. It died before we could give it anything. Was it a disease, and is there any cure for it? They have free range.

Answer—Your duck was evidently poisoned, and from the little that you tell me as to the manner in which you have been feeding them I think that the corn dough must have been sour. Sour corn meal is poison to a duck and for that matter to all other poultry. Give your ducks just what they will eat up clean, three or four times a day. Keep water in a vessel deep enough for them to cover their heads. Be sure that their food—soft food only—contains one-fifth clean sand. Keep everything clean. Spoiled meat or any other decayed food is poison to them.

Preserving Eggs.

Mrs. F. B. Rosser, Van Dorn, Ala.—Is there any way that I can keep eggs until nearly Christmas without too much expense?

How many ducks can one keep with one drake?

Answer—Water glass will preserve your eggs—80 per cent water and 20 per cent water glass. Some think that 10 per cent water glass is strong enough, or is the correct proportion, but 20 per cent is best, when eggs are put daily into the liquid just as they are laid. It is best to use eggs just as soon after they are laid as possible.

In order to get the best results, you should have your Indian Runner ducks in runs about 10 by 30 or longer if you have the room. There should be four to six ducks to each drake. You would have by this arrangement almost every egg fertile. If you wish to use the eggs for commercial purposes, the number of ducks and drakes that you keep together does not matter, for the infertile eggs will keep better than the fertile eggs.

MRS. PENNYBACKER IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT BY CLUB WOMEN

San Francisco, July 4.—Election of Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, of Austin, Texas, to be president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs for the next two years was admitted.

Mrs. Pennybacker received 556 votes to 255 cast for Mrs. Philip Carpenter, of New York.

Mrs. Pennybacker's election was formally announced tonight at the regular business session of the federation's convention. Other officers whose election was announced are:

First vice president, Mrs. L. L. Blankenburg, Philadelphia; second vice president, Mrs. Samuel B. Sneath, Ohio; recording secretary, Mrs. Harry L. Keefe, Nebraska; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Eugene Reilly, North Carolina; treasurer, Mrs. John Threadgill, Oklahoma; auditor, Mrs. Charles H. McMahon, Utah.

The directors elected include Mrs. William E. Andrews, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. J. Creighton Mathewes, Louisiana.

Announcement of Mrs. Pennybacker's election was followed by hand-clapping, then by cheers and finally by what was pronounced to be a "rebel yell," chorused by the Texas delegation. Business of the convention was suspended while she was escorted to the platform, where another ovation was given her.

The vote on the presidency and other offices was taken yesterday, but it was understood that the result would not be announced till today.

Mrs. Pennybacker and Mrs. Carpenter are both advocates of equal suffrage, but Mrs. Pennybacker had made a formal announcement against, bringing the subject before the federation, and Mrs. Carpenter in a similar statement refrained from committing herself on that point.

The federation sessions end tomorrow.

Austin, Texas, July 4.—As a club worker, author and educator, Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, the Austin woman who was nominated for the presidency of the National Federation of Women's Club at San Francisco, is one of the best-known women in Texas. She has served the national federation as treasurer and auditor. At present she is chairman of the endowment fund committee, which is charged with the work of raising $100,000 to carry on a branch of work of the federation. She has been president of the Texas state Federation of Women's Club, and of the Austin City Federation. She has served as president of the American Historic Club.

Mrs. Pennybacker wrote a textbook of Texas history, which has been in use in the schools of this state for the last twenty-four years. For the last eight or ten years the history has been used to the exclusion of all others on Texas history, the state textbook law having made it unlawful to use any other.

Mrs. Pennybacker has played a prominent part in bringing the public schools system of Texas to its present state of efficiency.

Mrs. Pennybacker was born at Petersburg, Va., in 1861. She is the daughter of the Rev. J. B. and Martha Hardwick.

JEWISH ALLIANCE HAS "SANE FOURTH" MEETING

The Jewish Educational Alliance successfully demonstrated last night at their hall what is the true meaning of a "sane Fourth," when they gave a patriotic entertainment for more than 400 people which was thoroughly enjoyed.

James L. Mayson, city attorney, made the address of the evening on "The Birth of the Republic," which proved an inspiring talk to all who heard him. A chorus of young ladies added much to the program by their rendition of patriotic songs, and at the conclusion of the exercises a dance was enjoyed by the young people. The exercises were held on the lawn in the rear of the building where it was delightfully cool.

ANDREW FORCED TO QUIT PLACE

His Resignation Not Voluntary, Says Secretary MacVeagh.

Secretary Asserts That Andrew Was Repeatedly Requested to Resign, and Was Finally Forced to Do So—MacVeagh Gives His Side of Controversy

Lancaster, Mass., July 4.—Secretary of the Treasury Franklin MacVeagh, in a statement given out here today, declared that the resignation of A. Piatt Andrew, assistant secretary of the treasury, was not submitted until it had repeatedly been requested by both Mr. MacVeagh and President Taft. The secretary said that Mr. Andrew pleaded to be retained in the service and brought every possible influence to bear to have the request for his resignation withdrawn.

Secretary MacVeagh, who is a visitor at the home of Bayard Thayer, today received many telegraph and telephone messages from friends and official acquaintances expressing confidence in his administration of the department, and prepared a lengthy statement of his side of the controversy precipitated by Mr. Andrew's letter of resignation.

Statement of Secretary.

The statement of the secretary says:

"I regret that it seems necessary to refer to the letters published by Mr. A. Piatt Andrew and addressed to the president and me. The virulence of the attack has probably limited its effect, but apart from the attack upon me he strangely misrepresents a number of the chief men of the treasury department to whom I attribute a large measure of the success of the department work, and seems to deny that anything has been accomplished, either by them or anybody else. I am obliged, therefore, to restore Mr. Andrew's resignation to its proper light.

"Mr. Andrew says he resigned because of the conditions in the treasury department of which he disapproves. A comparison of this statement with the facts is probably the simplest way to test the animus and the veracity of his letters. He did not resign voluntarily, but was asked to resign—and asked repeatedly—and he used every effort and influence possible to get the request for his resignation withdrawn; and pleaded to be allowed to continue in his place. And it was when he failed to have the request for his resignation withdrawn, and because of this, that he made his attack—and chose to give the impression that his resignation was a matter of his own choice, and determined upon for public reasons.

Details of Resignation.

"The details as to his resignation are as follows:

"On June 24, when Mr. Andrew returned from Chicago, I formally asked in a note for his resignation. He called on me at once to urge me to change my mind and allow him to stay. At his wish I explained at length my reasons and listened to all his arguments and wishes. I felt, however, obliged to tell him the request for his resignation could not be withdrawn. I supposed Mr. Andrew would send in his resignation promptly, and as a matter of course, as I had never known of a case where such a request had not been promptly complied with.

"I waited, however, without reply until June 28. I then wrote again, repeating the request. On the 29th Mr. Andrew sent me a brief note treating the matter with vagueness. I replied immediately, saying I could not accept vagueness, but wished to have that day either his resignation or his refusal to resign. To this he did not reply at all. And, therefore, on July 2 I wrote a fourth time, renewing the request and communicating a copy of a letter addressed to me by the president authorizing and directing me to ask for the resignation. I asked for a prompt reply, stating that I was going out of town. I left Washington on the midnight train without hearing from Mr. Andrew, and saw in the next afternoon's papers long extracts from two scurrilous letters, one to the president and one to me, which at last conveyed his unwilling resignation.

And Used Influence.

"Meanwhile, as I only learned after a week, Mr. Andrew had diligently used the interval while I was waiting to secure all the influence he could to aid him in keeping his place. Besides arguing the case himself with me and with certain senators, and besides having his case argued both at the white house and before me, he argued his case himself at the white house.

"Mr. Andrew did not at any time mention to me any objection to his treatment in the treasury, except that he thought I did not give him as much of my time as I ought; and that I had sometimes allowed other callers to be received when he was waiting. On the other hand, some of those connected with my office—and who were impartial—thought Mr. Andrew had had at certain periods too much of my time. Certainly his curious calculation of the amount of the time given him will strike everyone in my office with wonderment.

"No other complaint or criticism did Mr. Andrew ever offer. And it is hardly necessary to point out that a man whose grip on his place I could hardly shake loose could scarcely have found his place undesirable or his associations unendurable.

"If Mr. Andrew could represent himself as resigning voluntarily, when he was with usual difficulty forced to resign, it causes no wonder that he should without warrant call as witnesses a group of important men of the department who nearly all immediately contradicted him—and whose immediate assurances to me by telegraph and telephone are among the pleasantest happenings of my official life. No one in the department who has done successful work would, I believe, indorse any of Mr. Andrew's statements.

"There is nothing out of the usual in Mr. Andrew's case. The work of the treasury department was and still is strenuous, owing to the program adopted at the beginning of the administration and it is necessary to have all three of the assistant secretaries, not only able but efficient. It was a great disappointment to me that Mr. Andrew was not efficient enough to meet the requirements and that it was necessary to get some one else. That is all there was to it, when the change was decided upon.

Disobeyed Instructions.

"Subsequently, in direct disobedience to my instructions, written and then repeated in two interviews sought by him, and without my knowledge until he had left Washington, he went to the Chicago convention when the other two assistant secretaries had already gone by previous arrangement.

"This irresponsible conduct must have led in any event to his prompt separation from the department. Mr. Andrew, I see, has made the statement that he told me that he wished to go to Chicago to further monetary legislation.

"This is clearly an afterthought. He made no mention whatever of the monetary question. He gave only one reason for wishing to go. He said he intended to go into politics at the convention afforded a splendid opportunity to make political acquaintances."

Secretary MacVeagh will go to his summer home at Dublin, N. H., tomorrow. He will return to Washington Sunday night.

ANDREW DENIES HE RESIGNED TO JOIN COLONEL ROOSEVELT

Gloucester, Mass., July 4.—"I am and always have been a republican," declared A. P. Andrew, who reached his home here today, after the announcement of his resignation as assistant secretary of the treasury. He said he wished to deny a report that he had resigned to join the proposed party headed by Colonel Roosevelt.

When shown Secretary MacVeagh's statement given out tonight, Mr. Andrew said:

"Whatever may or may not have happened in the last two or three weeks, I do not regard as having any essential bearing on the question of my separation from the treasury department. The real issue is as stated in my two letters published yesterday. Beyond this I have nothing to add."

ANDREW-MACVEAUGH QUARREL WILL BE AIRED IN CONGRESS

Washington, July 4.—The issue raised between Secretary MacVeagh and A. Piatt Andrew will be discussed probably at Beverly, where Secretary MacVeagh will join President Taft Sunday and return with him to Washington. It may be thoroughly aired soon in a house investigation proposed by Representative Cox, of Ohio.

The officials whom Assistant Secretary Andrew, in his letter of resignation to the president, cited as being dissatisfied with Secretary MacVeagh's attitude toward them, have taken on various attitudes. Commissioner Cabell, of the internal revenue bureau; Auditor Kram, of the postoffice department, and Director Ralph, of the bureau of printing and engraving, have telegraphed Secretary MacVeagh that their relations with him always have been cordial. Lee McClung, treasurer of the United States, whose relations with Mr. MacVeagh are said to have been especially strained, declined to make any statement. Comptroller of the Currency Murray, out of town, has informed treasury officials he is willing to make a public statement that there was no friction between him and Secretary MacVeagh.

Assistant Secretary Andrew's friends, however, declare that before making public the letter containing his criticisms of Secretary MacVeagh, he submitted it to practically all the officials whom he cited, and that it received their approval. The others declined to discuss that feature of the question today.

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS TO WED BESSIE M'COY

Richard Harding Davis, the author and playwright, announces that he and Miss Bessie McCoy, the dancer, will be married July 8. He refuses to say where the ceremony will take place. This will be Mr. Davis' second matrimonial venture. He was married in 1899 to Miss Cecil Clark, the daughter of a wealthy iron manufacturer, in Chicago. They separated in 1909, and she got a divorce from him two weeks ago, in Chicago.

"Ben Hur" is to make a long road tour next season under the direction of Klaw & Erlanger.

PARACHUTE DROP FATAL TO MOORE

Widely Known Florida Aeronaut Is Killed in New Jersey.

Newark, N. J., July 4.—Thomas Moore, one of the most widely known balloonists in the United States, while making a triple parachute drop over Hillside Pleasure park at Bellenville, N. J., this afternoon, was instantly killed by a fall of 800 feet.

Moore attempted a descent from a height of 10,000 feet. The first and second parachute opened properly but the third spread with a jerk and the balloonist lost his hold.

Moore's home was in Jacksonville, Florida.

Little Items of Georgia Cities

Hoodoo Engine Overturns.

Waycross, Ga., July 4.—A report received here today stated that engine No. 1908, of the Southern, out on the first trip since its wreck at Hortense, a month ago, had turned over, due to some defect in a switch between Macon and Atlanta. 1908 was pulling south-bound Southern No. 13 when the wreck at Hortense occurred. Railroad men think the engine must be one of the hoodoo type, and it is said the wreck at Hortense was the second the same engine had been in within a few months.

Drainage Plan.

Waycross, Ga., July 4.—Probably one of the largest drainage undertakings ever proposed in this section of the south will soon be started in Glynn and Camden counties by J. V. Phillips, government engineer, stationed at Waycross. Approximately 25,000 acres of land are within the district that will be surveyed and all of this can be reclaimed and put into cultivation. No estimates of cost can be given until the survey is made, but the preliminary view indicates that the acreage cost will be very small.

Union Building.

Waycross, Ga., July 4.—The carpenters and joiners of Waycross are preparing to build one of the prettiest homes any union could desire and hope to have the work under way early in the fall. A location at the corner of Brunel and Reed streets has been purchased and will make one of the most convenient such an organization could get. The building will be of brick.

Colored Hospital.

CARL HUTCHESON BACK; BOOSTING FOR WILSON

Carl Hutcheson, well known Atlantan, whose work had more to do with the election of William Schley Howard to congress from the Atlanta district than probably any other one person, and who figured prominently as an Underwood advocate in the state primary, came back from Baltimore yesterday, whither he went ten days ago to back the Alabamian for nomination.

Mr. Hutcheson proved to be the advance guard of the Atlanta element of the Georgia contingency on its return from the convention city. He came home wearing his usual smile of placidity and satisfaction.

"Of course Wilson was nominated and we of the Underwood support helped to do it," he said yesterday. "We did not vote for Wilson at the start, but I can assure you that the Underwood supporters will make the other folks—even the original Wilson men in Georgia—get up before day if they can do any harder, better, more enthusiastic or determined work for the nominee. If Dr. Wilson has any reason to complain of Georgia after the November election we of the Underwood crowd will willingly take that blame—provided others do as well as we are determined to do."

MANY ACCEPTANCES TO CHAMBER DINNER

Invitations to the informal dinner and open forum meeting of the chamber of commerce Thursday evening, July 18, in Taft hall, have been issued to the members and Secretary Walter G. Cooper is receiving many acceptances.

The meeting is unique in that it calls the entire membership together to allow everybody to talk and express their opinions on the work now being done by the organization. Among the subjects for consideration after dinner will be the report of the chamber of commerce building committee, the Lakewood exposition, and the bureau of municipal research.

The committee on arrangements, President Wilmer L. Moore, V. H. Kriegshaber and Ivan E. Allen, in sending out the invitations, urged that the diners come direct to Taft hall from their offices, and business dress will be in order.

PICNICKER WAS WADING.

Drowned in Deep Hole Which Has Claimed Many Victims.

Waycross, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—While on a picnic at Saltilla river today Elmer E. Bunting, 11 years old, son of Mrs. T. O Bunting, was drowned. Young Bunting was wading in water a few feet deep and stepped off a sandbar into a hole, which has yearly taken toll of life.

E. W. Louth was drowned in the same hole four years ago today, and several others each year.

Mrs. Adkins, wife of a barber, was drowned at the county bridge while bathing. Her body has not been recovered. The body of Bunting was found several hours after its disappearance.

DYNAMITE WAS USED TO CURE HICCOUGHING

Logansport, Indiana, July 4.—Physicians exploded a giant firecracker at the bedside of James McGowan at a hospital today in the hope that the nervous shock would stop his hiccoughing, from which he had been suffering for five days. He was quieted, but a few minutes later he died of exhaustion. McGowan, who was 18 years old, had been hiccoughing continually. Electricity and other remedial agents were tried without effect before the opening of the Fourth of July celebration as a last resort suggested the firecracker.

The Money a Merchant "Saves" by Cutting Down His Advertising Expense Goes to the Merchant Who Doubles His Appropriation!

It goes to the live merchant through the operation of a trade law as old and unrepealable as the Ten Commandments—that law stated in the dictum: "To him that hath shall be given"—and, as finished by a modern writer—"all that they can take away from him who hathn't!"

Thus, the merchant whose advertising grows all the time sees his store grow all the time. The merchant who "cuts down" his advertising "cuts down" his store!

Do you belong to the "haths" or to the "hath nots"?

NEGROES CAUSE POLICE TROUBLE

Out on Decatur Street Celebrating Johnson's Victory Last Night.

Early last night it appeared as though the police were going to experience trouble with the immense throng of negroes jammed into Decatur street from Ivy to Butler streets. The victory of Jack Johnson yesterday caused many of the negroes to start "celebrating."

Beginning at 6 o'clock, a seething mass of black humanity packed the street until it was impossible for pedestrians to make headway on the sidewalks. The colored resorts and saloons were filled with boisterous blacks taking advantage of the holiday, and at the intersection of Collins street under the Courtland street viaduct, more than a thousand negroes were congregated.

The trouble began about 8 o'clock, when Detective B. A. Perry, of headquarters, was attacked by three negroes in front of the Vendome hotel, a negro resort on Ivy street, just off Decatur.

Perry was attempting to arrest a negro blind tiger, Arthur Davis, on Fort street. Davis resisted arrest, and called to two black companions for assistance, wrestling with the detective in an endeavor to free himself.

One of the negroes struck Perry on the back of the head with a blunt instrument, knocking him unconscious and to the pavement. The negroes fled across Decatur toward the Union station, but afterward were caught at the junction of Ivy and Decatur.

Police headquarters and Grady hospital were notified. A squad of mounted police and motorcycle men was rushed to the scene. As the horses sped clattering up the street behind the motorcycles, the saloons, picture shows and resorts between Ivy and Butler streets poured out a seemingly unceasing flow of howling negroes, both male and female.

Hundreds of half-drunken blacks shouted madly at the mounted police and men on motorcycles, shying their hats at the horses, and plunging in a mass into the street until traffic was choked completely for the time being.

Twenty-five reserves in uniforms and plain clothes were rushed from headquarters to the scene of the attack upon the detectives. Boisterous negro men were clubbed, and ordered off the street. A few resisted the officers, but were hustled off to the station house in a jiffy. Upon the appearance of the squad of reserves, the mob of blacks fled into saloons, basement entrances to lodging houses and restaurants, and through the Courtland street opening of the viaduct. Within fifteen minutes, the situation was under control and the street rid completely of loiterers. During the remainder of the night, the regular number of policemen on the Decatur street beat was reinforced by a double number, and from then on until midnight no further trouble was threatened.

MACON IS CHOSEN BY WALKER BANKS

Home Office of the System to Be Located in Central City.

Macon, Ga., July 4.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the officers and cashiers of the eighty-five banks composing the Walker system of banks, of which John D. Walker, of Sparta, is the head, Macon was today given unanimous indorsement as the location for the home office of the chain of banks, and it was stated that the official action to that end would be taken within a short time.

It was the annual meeting of the men interested in the Walker banks, and there were 150 in attendance. At the meeting at the Log Cabin Club in the afternoon J. D. Walker stated that he had communicated with the officers of all the banks as to their preferences and that they were practically unanimous in wanting it located in Macon. The home office is at present located at Sparta, and the removal to Macon means that John D. Walker will move here, bringing a good-sized office force with him.

Atlanta, through E. A. Miner, president of the East Atlanta bank, made a bid for the location of the home office in his city, but he did not push the matter when he was informed by Mr. Walker that the sentiment was almost unanimous for Macon. Another feature of the meeting today was the discussion of a plan for the establishment of an insurance department for the banks. This plan was outlined, and it was agreed to put it up to the board of directors of each bank.

A telegram was ordered sent to Hon. Woodrow Wilson, democratic nominee for president, pledging the support of the Walker system of banks to him in his campaign. The speaker of the day was Hon. Joseph A. McCord, president of the Third National bank of Atlanta, who told how to handle cotton in a country bank. The novel feature of his address was that he told of his own experiences from the time that he was operating a little country store and bank together.

The meeting was presided over by E. L. Brawner, cashier of the Bank of Lumpkin. At noon a barbecue was served.

An Irish Duel.

John Eagan, a county judge, and Roger Barrett, master of the rolls at Donnybrook, participated in an affair of honor that has been handed down as a fine example of Irish humor. As quick as the belligerents were placed Barrett blazed away in the air, vowing his honor was satisfied. He would have walked off, but Eagan called on him to stop until he might be shot. "Fire away!" commanded Barrett, halting conveniently near. After taking deliberate aim Judge Eagan lowered his pistol. "No, Roger, I won't be bothered shooting you," he said, whereupon the warring pair shook hands warmly.

CARRIERS WILL TALK GOOD ROADS

Program Last Night Postponed Until Today.

R. F. D. Men Yesterday Indorsed the Parcels Post--Autos and Motorcycles Were Discussed and Other Matters Taken Up.

The good roads meeting of the Georgia rural carriers' convention, scheduled for last night, will be held this morning at 10 o'clock, owing to a misunderstanding among the delegates as to when the meeting was to take place.

Prominent speakers will be heard, men who are well known through the state, and who are earnest advocates for good roads. John N. Holder, speaker of the house of representatives, is first on the program, with the subject, "Good Roads Legislation, as State Highway Commission and Rural Route Public Roads." Ex-Governor John M. Slaton will follow on "Good Road Laws Worth Advocating," and other speakers will be Dr. S. W. McCallie, state geologist; G. V. Braddock, and Colonel R. N. Hardeman.

The convention concludes its business after the 2 o'clock session today.

Favor Parcels Post.

The carriers came out in favor of the parcels post yesterday in their morning session, when 200 of the mail men assembled in the Kimball house. There were two speakers who strongly favored the passage of this bill, I. G. Hart, superintendent of the mails in the Atlanta postoffice, and R. E. Barry, postoffice inspector.

The convention was called to order at 9:30 o'clock by President L. D. King, of Covington, and immediately after convening the letter men all joined in singing "America." The welcoming address was delivered by W. F. Crusselle, and was responded to by R. J. Procter, of Statesboro. After the appointment of the various committees and the roll call, Postmaster Hugh McKee, of Atlanta, welcomed the R. F. D. men in the name of the Atlanta carriers.

During the afternoon session most of the time was spent in the discussion of the mutual benefit plan, and in the advantages and disadvantages of the motorcycle and the automobile for the mail route. Although the delegates seemed to be heartily in favor of some mutual plan of association no definite action was taken.

There was much humorous discussion pro and con on the motorcycle and automobile question, many extolling the virtues of the self-propelled machines, while others committed themselves in favor of the old style of delivery with buggy and "hay-burner." A great many of the carriers have adopted the motorcycle or the automobile, and declare that they have proven great savers both in time and money, and urged the other delivery men to adopt their method.

One Woman Carrier.

Among the 200 postmen present is one postwoman, Mrs. M. S. Gooden, of Abbeville. Mrs. Gooden is very enthusiastic about the work, and the people on her route are as sure to get their mail as they are on any other route in Georgia, she not having missed a day last winter.

The report of the credentials committee, scheduled for Thursday afternoon, but put off on account of the amount of business to be transacted, will be read at this morning's session.

The present officers of the association are as follows:

President L. D. King, of Covington; vice president, R. J. Proctor, of Statesboro; secretary and treasurer, George C. Bond, of Elberton; assistant secretary, W. H. Astin, of Palmetto.

The program for today is as follows:

9 a. m.—Reports of all committees; reports of officers; report of Milwaukee convention by Paul L. Lindsey.

11 a. m.—Address by Hon. John M. Slaton, president of the Georgia state senate; adjournment for lunch.

2 p. m.—Reassemble; unfinished business; date and place of next meeting; election of officers; election of delegates to national convention at Nashville; adjournment.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

(From The New York Press.)

Chips of the old block come off mostly in splinters.

There's hardly anything can make a young couple more eager to get married than that they ought not to.

The reason a man can afford to smoke such good cigars is how he lies to his wife about how much they cost him.

The first thing a man better understand about a woman is that there's nothing about a woman he can understand.

The uglier the baby gets the less it looks like its father if the rest of the family want to keep him in good humor.

Difficulty is often experienced in removing a ring that is too small for the finger. The ring may be removed very easily by means of a strong piece of coarse thread. Wax one end of the latter, and force it between the ring and the finger, the end pointing toward the wrist. Now, wind the remainder of the thread tightly around the finger, leaving each strand close to the next as it is on the spool. Next take up the end that was forced under the ring, and gradually unwind the thread, pulling out on it as you wind. The ring will follow the thread down over the thick portion of the finger that has been bound in by the thread.

"Do you like music?" she inquired listlessly.

"Yes," he replied, "I am always carried away by music."

She flew to the piano and played several airs. Then she turned and looked at him.

"You are not gone yet?"

"No."

"But you told me that music always carried you away."

"Yes," he retorted, "but I said music."

COLONEL PLANS NOVEL CAMPAIGN

been, and so far as I am concerned, he certainly may."

The former president intends to break far away from conventional lines of conducting a campaign. He hopes to lead what he termed a people's government.

"This thing has got to be done by the people or it won't be done at all," he said. "Of course, we need leaders, but it does not make so much difference about the leaders after all."

For that reason, he continued, he was not perturbed at the fact that some of the leaders in his recent campaign had declined to follow him in his present fight.

The colonel talked more freely tonight of his intentions than he has done heretofore. Throughout his campaign he will contend that neither of the great old parties has shown the adaptability or the inclination to take the point of view of the average man who has to work for his living. This statement he intends to couple with the argument which he previously outlined that the republican and democratic parties are largely under the influence of bosses and that the time has come for a new national party.

The High Cost of Living.

In this connection, the high cost of living is to come in for special attention. The former president said he intends to deal with it constantly, on the ground that while to some extent it is due to natural economic causes, there are collateral causes which may be reached and remedied.

Colonel Roosevelt has been engaged in a study of the platform adopted in Baltimore this week and of the republican platform, and believes he has found in them valuable campaign material. He said neither of these platforms showed the slightest understanding of the social and industrial movement which is under way in this country. They have taken up, he said, the old policies and the battle cries of other years. At the Baltimore and Chicago conventions, he continued, there apparently was no reflection of the movement which, as he put it, all serious-minded men are dwelling upon—the effort to obtain better conditions of life for the ordinary wage-workers.

Hard-Fought Campaign.

It is his intention, he said, to attempt to set forth the conditions which in his opinion are responsible for the high cost of living and the measures which he believes should be undertaken. Some students of economic conditions, he continued, believed that the trusts were primarily responsible and others the tariff. He asserted that this issue must be met squarely, and that he would not confine himself exclusively to either trusts or tariff, but would deal with the situation in its broader aspects.

"It is going to be a straight, strong, hard-fought campaign," he said. He exhibited stacks of letters and telegrams which he said had come in since the nomination of Woodrow Wilson.

"I have been perfectly amazed at the response from all parts of the country since Governor Wilson's nomination," he said.

"After the call for the national convention comes out," he went on, "you will know exactly how it shapes up and you will find that we have a strong organization."

Fine Barbecue Dinner.

A barbecue dinner, the like of which was never before served in the town of Crawfordville, was served at noon, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the fund for building an iron fence around Liberty Hall. Mayor W. O. Holden, of Crawfordville, was the host at the feast.

The following ladies assisted in making the anniversary a notable event: Mrs. J. A. Beasley, president; Mrs. W. C. Chapman, vice president; Mesdames C. H. Stone and E. C. Gunn, corresponding and recording secretary, and Mrs. H. F. White, treasurer.

Liberty Hall, the site where the anniversary was held, is on a lot of twelve acres. It is owned by the Stephens Monument association. The late Hon. George T. Barnes, of Augusta, was president of the association. Judge M. Z. Andrews, of Tallaferro county, is the only living vice president of the association, and is acting president since the death of Major Barnes.

The association was originally incorporated with the following officers and directors: President, George T. Barnes, of Augusta; vice president, M. Z. Andrews, of Crawfordville; Hon. Seaborn Reese, of Sparta; Hon. Thomas Hardeman, of Macon; Gen. Henry R. Jackson, of Savannah; Col. Charles Willingham, of Crawfordville; John W. Hixon, of Crawfordville; John N. Chapman, of Crawfordville; W. O. Holden, L. L. Veasey, James R. Asbury, W. C. Rhodes, Dr. R. J. Reid, Caspar Meyers, D. N. Sanders, B. F. Moore, Capt. Sam Flynt, all of Crawfordville; Judge W. M. Weaver, of Greensboro; W. A. Hemphill, of Atlanta; W. H. Maddox, of Elberton; Joseph Meyers, of Augusta; John Armstrong, of Augusta; Thomas E. Watson, of Thompson; Judge W. H. Baldwin, of Madison; Dr. W. J. Walker, of Warrenton; Henry J. Lang, of Lincolnton; W. H. Fleming, of Augusta; W. H. Cooley, of Washington; Col. J. R. Randall, of Augusta; W. R. Gunn, of Crawfordville, and Thomas E. Bristow.

MRS. WILLIAM R. LAIRD.
PHILIP LAIRD, 2 years old.
MABEL LAIRD, 5 years old, all of Brooklyn.

Of the injured four unidentified victims died at the Corning hospital. Several of the victims who are unconscious had nothing about their persons by which they could be identified.

Among the unidentified dead are four children, one a baby. The others are two girls, both apparently under five years, and a boy of about 10 years. There are also nine women, one a negress, whose bodies remain to be claimed. The other unidentified victims are men.

At Terrific Speed.

Schroeder had taken charge of the engine of No. 11 at Elmira, fifteen minutes before. It was a few minutes late. The stretch of track from Elmira to Corning is fitted for fast running and he was sending his train along at a terrific rate. No. 9 was supposed to be half an hour ahead of him. He had no warning until he made out the outline of the rear coach of No. 9 through the fog. Then he threw on the reverse brakes without shutting off steam.

The jerk threw the train off the track and the locomotive plunged on to splinter the two day coaches filled with excursionists, and tear through the last of the sleeping cars. Schroeder said the impact threw him from the cab and landed him clear of the train practically unhurt.

The 100-ton monster continued its plunge through the middle of the train, grinding everything in its path. When finally blocked by the debris it remained on the roadbed in the midst of the desolation it had caused, while hundreds of persons rushed in every kind of vehicle to the scene to lift and pry the dead and injured from the tangled mass of wreckage. Taking advantage of holiday excursion rates to Buffalo and Niagara Falls, many excursionists had boarded No. 9 at all points. By the time Elmira was reached the train carried so many passengers that a second engine was attached.

Signals of No Avail.

Not long before a drawhead in an extra freight train had been pulled out. Signals put out stopped No. 9. The first engine was uncoupled and set at work to push the dead end of the freight into a siding to allow No. 9 and No. 11, which was due in twenty-five or thirty minutes, to pass. The work was slow and during the wait many passengers from the day coaches got out.

Meanwhile the signals had been thrown against No. 11, but they were of no avail and the crash came.

Rescuers were quickly on the scene. In what seemed an incredibly short time hundreds of automobiles had lined the highway which led to the wreck and the work of getting the injured to the hospitals and the dead to the morgues was impeded by the blocking of the road. Police from Corning did their best to keep the paths clear and by 8 o'clock physicians who had been rushed to the scene in motor cars had started all of the wounded on their way to the hospitals or were giving emergency attention to victims. The only exceptions were a few persons who had been pinned beneath the wreckage. It was sometime before some of them were released.

Thirteen of the injured and ten of the dead were taken to Elmira. All the other dead were brought here and the other injured were conveyed to the Corning city hospital. All the physicians in the city were summoned to attend them while ministers and priests were called to administer last sacraments and receive messages from the dying.

Bodies Were Badly Mangled.

Most of the bodies were badly mangled. The wrecked cars were a heaped-up mass of wreckage, jamming into each other in telescope fashion.

The last two cars on train No. 11 remained on the track and later were used as temporary hospitals.

At the Corning hospital, which has accomodations for only forty patients, some of the injured had to lay upon the floors until physicans could give them attention.

At the wreck scene a man picked up a small white sheet which lay upon the ground only to draw back, ashen-faced, as his act revealed the body of a baby only a few months old. At a late hour the child had not been identified.

The Rev. John T. Cassidy was one of the early arrivals. He ministered to the injured and performed the last rites for those about to die. Once he halted a long line of automobiles and several wagons bound for the morgue while he performed the rites over the body of a little girl which lay across the highway. The automobilists and the bystanders stood about with bowed heads.

The people of Corning have opened their homes to the injured who could not find accommodations at the hospitals or whose injuries were too slight to warrant their crowding other persons from the institutions.

Skull Devoid of Marks.

This afternoon the workmen at the scene of the wreck picked up a skull which was entirely devoid of marks which would indicate whether it came from man or woman. A gold bracelet bearing the initials "E. A. H." was found in the wreckage this afternoon. It had been pulled nearly straight. It is supposed to have been upon the wrist of Mrs. Edith A. Hess, of Scranton, Pa., who was among those killed in the wreck.

Although Engineer Schroeder, of the express, declared there was no flagman to warn him of the presence of the stalled train ahead, Lackawanna officials declare tonight that a flagman had been sent back in the rear of No. 9 when she was held up.

Ran by Block and Flagman.

A statement concerning the wreck was given out by General Superintendent E. M. Rine, of the Lackawanna, tonight in which he says:

"I believe the cause of the accident was undoubtedly due to the fact that the engineman, Schroeder, in charge of the express train, ran through the block and past a flagman who had been sent in the rear of train No. 9, which was standing still. This flagman claims to have gone behind the train the required distance, according to the book of rules of the Lackawanna Railroad Company. This is the only cause which I can ascertain at the present time. The officials of the company will aid in every way to have a complete investigation of the facts."

Other officials declared later that Patrick Lane, the flagman, was half a mile back of train No. 9. They also assert that a mile back of the ill-fated train was an automatic danger signal thrown against Schroeder's train. Lane declares that he waved the flag to stop Schroeder, but that the engineer went right on.

10,000 MORE MEN GET PROTECTION

Taft Extends the Civil Service Law to Cover Navy Yard Mechanics.

Washington, July 4.—Ten thousand navy yard mechanics will pass under the protection of the civil service law when President Taft signs the executive order now being prepared by the navy department officials in conjunction with the civil service commissioners.

Theoretically these men have been shielded against vicissitudes of political changes by a system of regulations governing the employment boards in navy yards and stations, but these were subject to change or abolition at the will of the person who might be at the head of the department and lacked the binding force of the law.

The men in the yards are not to be required to undergo examinations, but newcomers will be subjected to severe practical tests, and must also pass prysical examinations. A regulation that anyone leaving work and seeking reinstatement must place his name at the very bottom of the roll of eligibles is regarded as a probable deterrent to strikes.

JOHNNY DOBBS FIGHTS M'ELVEEN

McElveen and me, and no one hit him but me."

Dobbs Tells of Trouble.

McElveen was until recently a member of the Montgomery club and when Dobbs came up in front of the hotel last night it is said that he asked the Atlanta third baseman:

"What about these stories you have been telling around the league about me?"

McElveen's answer is not known, but it is said that Dobbs immediately hit him several times.

Dobbs, Kid Elberfeld, Joe Bills and Raleigh Aichison were arrested, and Dobbs and Elberfeld were placed under $50 bond, and the other two were given copies of charges with instructions to appear before Recorder Broyles Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

Atlanta Players Version.

McElveen and other members of the Atlanta Club who were near, alleged that Dobbs, Elberfield, Bills and Aitchison approached the local player about 8 o'clock as he sat in front of the Aragon. Without warning or provocation, McElveen was struck in the face, and pulled from his chair, they say. The Montgomery players, it was stated, rushed him, and before he could escape into the hotel, he had received considerable punishment at their hands.

McElveen was carried to his room, where his injuries were given medical attention. To a reporter for The Constitution, he declared that Dobbs and his teammates had made the attack without provocation, and that had he not fled into the hotel, he would have received a worse beating than he did.

"I was sitting in front of the hotel," he said, "talking with an acquaintance, when some one struck me squarely in the face, and my chair was pulled from beneath me. I tried to retaliate, but was prevented by others. It seemed as though five were fighting me, and I realized I could not withstand the odds. I was knocked down, and struck while lying on the sidewalk. I arose as best I could, and ran into the hotel, when the crowd ran down Peachtree street."

All Are Arrested.

The names of the Montgomery players were given the police by Joe Agler, Atlanta's first baseman, also a witness to the affair, and by McElveen. They were arrested about 10 o'clock in the Kimball house lobby. Agreeing to go to police station, they walked in company with the arresting officer. Bills and Aitchison stated to the police that they were in no manner connected with the fight only as onlookers, and for this reason, they were not placed under bond.

John Dobbs is one of the best known baseball men in the south. He is a Chattanooga boy and formerly played on the Chicago and Brooklyn National league clubs. Of late years, he has been a Southern league manager, and has piloted the Nashville and Chattanooga clubs several seasons and is now at Montgomery for the second year. Dobbs has many friends in Atlanta, as has McElveen, and the incident is generally regretted by the friends of both men.
